Gateway wants study of project

The East-West Gateway Coordinating Council's board of directors yesterday afternoon voted to ask the Madison County Board to review the latter board's zoning of a 770-acre development proposed in parts of Chouteau and Edwardsville townships.

The residential-recreation-commercial-light industrial project is planned by a group of developers, including Mayor Mike Sasyk of Madison.

Both Sasyk, as vice-president of the Southwestern Illinois Council of Mayors, and Nelson Hagnauer, chairman of the Madison County Board, are Gateway board members and obtained from the vice vote which asked that the plan be given more study.

The Gateway staff indicated in its report to the board that the project was singled out for attack as one example of local governments in the Gateway jurisdiction allegedly ignoring a regional land use plan. However, the regional plan does not include a flat ban on such developments in this county.

The staff report read, "For example, a 'new town' was recently approved by Monroe County; St. Louis County is in the process of developing a plan revision which may be somewhat inconsistent with regional plans."

"Other examples exist as well."

"Given the dynamic nature of private development, this is merely the first of a number of major developments and proposed developments which may well be inconsistent with the regional land use plan, and for that matter with locally adopted plans," the staff report continued.

The staff suggested that the development, and rezoning of 240 acres of the 770-acre tract from agricultural to various urban uses, be reviewed in light of local characteristics (soils, surface drainage, ground water and ponding) and in light of the Madison County and regional land use plans.

Choice steaks target of trio

A trio of East St. Louis men, apparently feeling the pinch of high meat prices, allegedly tried to steal three steaks from the Kroger Co. store in Nameoki Village Shopping Center at 3 p.m. Monday, but dropped the meat on the floor when accosted by store employees.

Arrested at the store and charged with theft (shoplifting) was Robert L. Stovall, 39, of East St. Louis.

His companions, Leroy J. Humphrey, 37, and Gilbert L. Stumpe, 39, both of East St. Louis, left the shopping center in a car and were taken into custody a few minutes later by Madison police officers at 12th Street and Madison Avenue. Both were charged with theft (shoplifting).

Dobrey bids Sept. 14

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

Bids for construction of an interim drainage line from Dobrey Slough will be opened by the state Department of Transportation Division of Water Resource Management, at 10 a.m. Friday, Sept. 14, and contractors will bid on the project this time, it was announced during a meeting on Dobrey Slough problems Tuesday night.

New Nameoki-Fehling intersection okayed

A city-wide agreement under which the Illinois Department of Transportation will improve the Nameoki Road intersection at Johnson-Fehling roads was approved by the Granite City Council Monday night.

The aldermen authorized Mayor Paul Schuler to sign the agreement with the state highway department as the second phase of the city's TOPICS program (Traffic Operation Program to Increase Capacity and Safety), in which traffic safety improvements also will be made at four Madison Avenue intersections as the first phase of work.

The agreement projected a total cost of $87,625 for the Nameoki-Johnson-Fehling intersection improvement, with the city to pay 24.8 per cent of the cost ($21,692). The city also agreed to maintain all portions of the improvement, including signs, traffic signals and pavement markings, after the project is completed.

The TOPICS program is sponsored by the federal government which provides the larger portion of cost. The state handles the program for the federal government, including the bidding and award of contracts.

The work will include enlargement of the Nameoki Road intersection with channelization of traffic lanes and improvement of the traffic signal system.

City officials previously approved agreements for the first phase of work for improvement of Madison Avenue intersections at 27th, 23rd and 20th streets and Niedringhaus Avenue, at a total cost approximating $175,000.

The council also agreed Monday night to pay a claim of $10,632 filed in behalf of Richard Bell, a former city police officer who was injured while on duty. The payment will settle claims by Bell to a $432 monthly payment in addition to his monthly disability pension.

The circuit court early this year held that Bell was entitled to the additional 50 per cent of his full salary under a city (Continued on Page 10) the funds before the Sept. 14 bid letting.

Richard Kerch, vice-president of R. Dron Electric Co., told the gathering he had been in contact with local contractors and assured the slough residents that bids would be received on the project this time. The program was stopped in late June when no bids for the work were received.

The state's fiscal year expired June 30 and the money for the project had to be reappropriated before bidding could resume.

Kersch said there apparently were no bidders for the project the first time because more than 50 per cent of the work required a plumbing contractor and local plumbing contractors had not been certified for highway projects. The law does not allow more than 50 per cent of the work to be subcontracted so a general contractor could not bid.

Kersch said he believes more than one local plumbing firm now has been certified by the Department of Transportation and will bid on the Dobrey interim drainage line.

The announcements brought an optimistic response from Jack Scoville, a trustee of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District.

"By the first of October, there will be a temporary system there," he said, and added, "Don't think that this is the answer to your problems in Dobrey Slough. Instead of the Promise local levee meetings

A pledge to hold alternating meetings of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District board in Madison County was made by Trustee Jack Scoville of St. Clair County during a special Dobrey Slough meeting in Granite City Tuesday night.

Scoville said he will propose at the district's September levee board meeting that every other meeting be held in Madison County, starting with the October session.

"I will make this motion and assure you it will pass," he said. He said he also will propose changing the meetings to 7 p.m. "so the working fellow can attend." Previous levee board meetings have been held at 10 a.m. in the district's East St. Louis office.

Scoville added he would like to see the district eventually "take our show on the road" and hold meetings during next year "in every township in Madison and St. Clair counties to get a greater input from taxpayers."

He said Scoville joins the two Madison County trustees, William "Mike" Ebersold of Venice and Russell Robinson of Granite City, the vote is assured of passage at the next meeting of the five-member board.

It is feared that President Romel Wilton of East St. Louis may veto the action, which

Ratify school pay agreement

By DONNA HARTWICK
Press-Record Staff Writer

A two-year agreement—with salary renegotiation after one year—was approved last night by the Granite City School Board and today by Local 743, American Federation of Teachers.

Annual pay for the fall-winter-spring term remains the same for new teachers—$9,500 with bachelor degrees, $9,150 with 150 credit hours, $8,400 with 175 credit hours, $8,650 with master degree and $9,900 with 190 credit hours.

Second through twelfth-year bachelor degree teachers are paid as follows on the 1973-74 salary schedule: $9,250 to $9,350; $9,600 to $9,850; $10,100 to $10,350; $10,450 to $10,700; $10,800 to $11,050; $11,150 to $11,400; $11,550 to $11,800; $12,000 to $12,250; $12,450 to $12,700; $13,150 to $13,400; and $14,000 to $14,400.

Master degree instructors in the second through twelfth years of experience are increased $100 to $10,100; raised $250 in each of the third through eleventh years to $10,600, $11,100, $11,450, $11,800, $12,150, $12,550, $13,000, $13,450 and $14,150; and increased $400 in the twelfth year to $15,150.

A teacher still at the top of the pay schedule receives not only the yearly increment but also the amount by which the schedule itself is upgraded.

A listing for non-degree teachers, who are no longer being hired, is being changed from $6,000-$10,500 to $6,000-$10,900.

Top salary, for 190 credit hours and 12 or more years of teaching, rises in the new agreement from $15,000 to $15,400.

These figures do not include the amounts of extra funds which are paid for specified extracurricular duties, nor the estimated costs of fringe benefits.

Of 44 articles in the working agreement, 11 articles were modified or changed.

Increased insurance benefits were granted to employees.

The changes were on maternity, major medical and hospital charges, and an additional $200 for outpatient treatment. A fifth clause, new in the contract, provides for clinical psychiatric care at no extra cost.

Also included in the contract was a cost of living clause to be updated for the 1974-75 year. Extra pay will include the girls' sports program, to be based on a yearly rate instead of a percentage as in the past.

A revision in speech department pay will amount to from $400 to $500 per year to cover after-school activities.

In relation to professional achievement, a minor change was made to allow any teacher who tries to enroll in a night course that may be filled, to substitute another course and not be restricted to one specific subject.

Under grievance procedure, more time was allowed from the initial grievance filing to the point of arbitration.

Accumulated earned absence were raised for those with 15 years of service to payment for 65 per cent; less than 15 years, 30 per cent; and

Stores, banks close Monday

The Quad-City area will follow a complete holiday schedule Monday as all state, county and local government offices and agencies, as well as banks and financial institutions, will close to observe the Labor Day holiday.

All public and parochial schools, with the exception of the Madison and Venice schools which began their school year this week, will observe the holiday and begin classes for the new school term Wednesday, Sept. 5.

The post offices in Granite City, Venice and Madison and all branch offices also will be closed with the exception of a one-time mail pick-up from the deposit boxes in front of each post office.

Spray adhesive ban

Three aerosol spray adhesives have been banned by Dr. Joyce Lashof, director of the state department of Public Health, the first time a hazard order has been issued by the department in an emergency situation under the authority of the Illinois Uniform Hazardous Substances Act.

She said Tuesday a possible link between spray adhesives and chromosome breaks resulting in severe birth defects has been found, and urged consumers to discontinue use of these products.

Foil Art Spray Adhesive, Scotch Brand Permanent and Krylon Spray Adhesive, products of the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing and Borden companies, were banned as imminent hazards by the federal Consumer Product Safety Commission last week.

Dr. Lashof said that due to the emergency, she was using the state law to call attention to the federal ban.

"Although the act has been in effect since 1968, this is the first time we have used it for an emergency situation," she said. "Gov. Dan Walker wants the public protected and has instructed me to use the ban whenever a potential hazard exists."

Dr. Lashof said all retailers in Illinois must immediately halt sales of these products or face possible prosecution.

Gas prices still uncertain

By KEN THOMPSON, Press-Record Staff Writer
Residents of the Quad-City and surrounding areas who are contemplating a trip this holiday weekend, may or may not have to pay more for the gasoline they need to reach their destination.

A U. S. district judge this week upheld Illinois' and the nation's gas dealers' allegation that Phase 4 regulations unfairly discriminate against them and ruled that the nation's 16,000 retail gasoline dealers can raise their prices starting this Labor Day weekend.

Tim McCormick, business representative for the association, said that an injunction against Phase 4 had been sought in the courts, which resulted in the favorable ruling this week, but area dealers are requested not to raise prices until an appeal of the injunction, filed by the federal government, could be heard.

One station operator ignored the request and immediately raised the price of regular gasoline from 35 cents to 40 cents per gallon, and received a reprimand from the Internal Revenue Service after a complaint was filed by an irate motorist.

Many area service station operators fear that if they are forced to roll back the price of gasoline to the Jan. 10 level, as proposed in Phase 4 directives that may or may not go into effect Saturday, the loss in the margin of profit would force them out of business.

The price of gasoline at that time was unusually low because dealers were involved in a gas war, and were undercutting one another's prices.

The gas dealers' association spokesman said that if its members have to roll back their selling price, but have to purchase the gasoline at today's wholesale prices, they couldn't make it and many would be forced out of business.

He said that the association and its members sent letters of protest to the Cost of Living Council and announced that possibly a three-day shutdown of area stations could be arranged as a method of protest if the government did not reverse itself and give them an acceptable rollback date.

McCormick said he is looking into a complaint from one Quad-City station operator who said that he lost about $100 in profits because his supplier raised his purchasing price and he can't raise the price on his pumps to offset it.

If the courts decision is in favor of the gas dealers' association, motorists may find themselves reviewing their budgets for their planned trips.

"On the other hand," one dealer said, "if they (the government) should win, people won't be doing much traveling anyway, because they won't be able to find a gas station open to but their fuel."

Unlimited group from the Mitchell area will play from 8 p.m. until midnight Friday and Saturday, with a special children's matinee session from 2 to 5 p.m. Saturday, when all rides will be reduced in price to 25 cents each, and from 2 p.m. until midnight Sunday.

Midway rides, dance music and food served by local civic organizations will highlight this weekend's "Downtown Days Carnival," a project of the Granite City Jaycees.

Man robbed of $900 in rings

Two diamond rings valued at $900, a wrist watch, four $1 bills and some change were taken from Art Collins, 52, St. Louis, in a robbery by three armed men at 10 p.m.

Collins told Venice police he stopped at the intersection of Broadway and Klein streets in Venice when a Negro man jumped in the front seat and put a gun to his head as two other men got into the back seat. Collins said he was forced to drive the trio to Black Lane near Collinsville where they were picked up by a car that was following them.

Unable to find his car keys that had been thrown into a ditch, Collins was brought to a State of Illinois weight station and an Illinois State Trooper drove him to the Venice police station.

Pre-printed state auto license form required

The pre-printed application form should be used by every applicant for a 1974 Illinois auto license, those applying to Quad-City banks are being reminded.

Although the secretary of state's office has previously mailed pre-printed applications to registered car owners for optional use, this is the first year the form will be a license requirement, Secretary Michael J. Howlett has noted.

Plastic industry topic of GC Rotary meeting

Charles Palmer, sales manager for Chris Kaye Plastic Manufacturing Co., with plants at 1200 Madison Ave. and Westport, St. Louis County, was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Granite City Rotary Club Monday evening at the YMCA.

The Madison plant was started 24 years ago and now has 200 employees. The new plant, known as Injex, hires about 35 people and was built five years ago, Palmer said.

These plants are rated as plastics processors as opposed to plastic operation makers and fabricators. Parcel Service strike ends

Sixty-five members of District 9's International Association of Machinists who walked out on strike this week in a contract dispute with the United Parcel Service in St. Louis, returned to their jobs early yesterday morning after a tentative agreement was reached between the union and the UPS.

District 9 spokesman Jim Redmon said delivery service that was disrupted during the 3-day strike is being resumed.

Details of the agreement will not be released until it is ratified by the members.

Members of District 9 of the International Association of Machinists (auto mechanics) are in their fourth week of picketing against new car dealers in the St. Louis area.

Mechanics in this area returned to their jobs earlier this month after reaching an agreement with the area dealers which calls for them to accept contract terms that is agreed upon by the St. Louis mechanics and dealers.

Picket's are still up at Bill's Auto Body, 2256 Madison Ave.

A strike here of steelworkers against N.L. Industries (National Lead), was continuing today with no new meetings set.

Steelworkers Local 6496 entered its ninth week of picketing against the Hoyt Plant of N.L. Industries, 15th Street and Cleveland Boulevard, while members of Local 1989 turned down a tentative agreement with the company's Steel Package Division, 15th and State streets, during the weekend and began picketing too.

Expect enrollment increase

Madison Schools registered a total of 2,150 students who reported for classes for the first day of school on Monday.

Following the Labor Day holiday weekend, school officials expect an additional 100 pupils will attend classes.

Superintendent of Schools John Palchiff said the total enrollment should reach 400 students at the high school, 400 at the junior high school and 1,300 in grades from kindergarten through the sixth grade, beginning next week, for a total of 2,250 pupils.

Starting Sept. 4, the Gateway Arch Passenger Transportation System will be in operation from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays and from 8:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

On Oct. 15, the system will go on its winter schedule, operating from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. seven days a week.

Visitors are being reminded that the ride to the top of the Arch requires a minimum round-trip, including viewing, of about 20 minutes.

Ticket sales will be suspended each evening in time to permit all passengers having tickets to be transported to the top of the Arch prior to closing.

A total of 577 students attended the Venice Schools on opening day, about 25 pupils short of the projected number, according to Superintendent of Schools John Pier.

Pier said he expects an additional 25 students to register for school following the holiday weekend.

Venice High School has 185 pupils and 392 children are attending kindergarten through the eighth grades.

All public schools in Granite City will open for the first day of school on Wednesday, Sept. 3, with an expected enrollment of 14,000 students.

While this is an estimate for all schools, a total of 7,120 pupils is expected in the elementary schools, 3,200 in the three junior high schools, and 4,680 at both high schools.

A breakfast for all new teachers will be held at Grigsby Junior High School at 8:30 a.m. Friday. The teachers then will tour the schools to which they are assigned and meet the principals and other faculty members.

heating with fuel oil have been unable to obtain bids, he related. At least 106 districts have failed to obtain commitments from gasoline suppliers to operate school buses.

"When it is noted that schools reporting fuel problems involve a total enrollment of 650,000, the potential for disruption of education appears to be vast," he concluded in urging increased federal attention to the problem.

Highland and Alton lack assurance of fuel oil supplies, and Edwardsville schools are uncertain of their gasoline supply, Dr. Bakalis reported.

Color postcards to promote Quad-Cities

"Promotion of the Quad-Cities area is the aim of the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce which has developed four color post cards that will appear for sale in area stores next week.

Mrs. Pauline Dubish of Madison is chairman of the post card committee. Helping her develop the cards were Mrs. Nigel Maeras, Madison; Mrs. Margaret Lee, Venice; Mrs. Mary Jessie, Mrs. Carma Froemling and Mrs. Emylee Alford, women's division president, all of Granite City. The committee will start distribution of the cards in area stores next week.

The four pictures include the Granite City Hall, Granite City Steel Co., Stephen Maeras Industrial Park in Madison and the Venice Recreation Center.

"It would help us greatly if local merchants wanting to sell the cards in their stores would contact the chamber office (876-6400) and let us know how many of each card they want," Mrs. Dubish said.

"We had 6,000 of each printed and we feel that citizens of the area can help us promote the area by mailing the cards to friends," she added.

Dr. Sultan to be dean of Business

Paul E. Sultan, professor of business administration and economics, will be nominated as dean of the School of Business, Dr. John S. Rendleman, president of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, said Tuesday. The appointment is subject to confirmation by the SIU board, which meets Sept. 14 in Carbondale.

Dr. Sultan, 48, will succeed the late John W. Leonard as dean of the school. He joined the SIUE faculty last September after having taught at the Claremont Graduate School, Simon Fraser University in Canada, the University of Southern California, the University of Buffalo and Cornell University.

Boosters South host meeting

Granite City Boosters Club-South, with coaches, members of the football team and parents of team players, will hold a social get-together Friday evening. It was announced today by Cecil Williams, president of the club.

The groups will meet at the football field at 6:30 p.m. to view a football scrimmage. Refreshments will be served in the school cafeteria later at no charge.

The first session of the fall prenatal classes at St. Elizabeth Hospital will begin at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the hospital's Wiesman Room. Expectant couples are invited to attend.

Fight aid fraud

Gov. Dan Walker on Monday signed a package of bills authorizing tighter controls over public aid spending, including four bills merging the Cook County Department of Public Aid into the Illinois Department of Public Aid.

He also announced that a trend of increasing public aid cases in Illinois was halted in April for the first time in seven years. The number of Illinois residents on welfare that month was down 593 from March.

In May, the number decreased again by 606. The decrease in June was 747. Final figures are not in yet for July or August.

The merger of the county and state departments will take place Jan. 1.

The other bills provide for pre-paid medical plans for public aid recipients, explicit state power to prosecute for welfare fraud, and use of certified mail for certain public aid notices instead of the more expensive registered mail.

Many Trojans to play both offense, defense

180, back. Standing, from the left, are Ivan Simms, 5-11, 210, tackle; Orlando Adams, 6-0, 180, guard; James Turner, 6-0, 180, back; Chris Ragsdale, 5-9, 270, tackle; Kevin Ditch, 6-0, 185, center; Carl Campbell, 6-1, 195, end; and Silver Franklin, 5-10, 175, back.

"We are small this year, but the players we have seem to be really hard workers; if they weren't the Trojans would really be in trouble."

Head Madison High School Football Coach Al Vonder Haar gave this summary of the 1973 outlook at a practice session Tuesday.

"Just about everyone is going to have to go both ways—offense and defense—just like in the old days before the two-plateau system. On the varsity squad, we have 14 linemen and 12 backs," the veteran coach noted.

"We are working on techniques and learning what to do. Everyone is taking practice seriously and the team could surprise a lot of people."

"None of the positions are definite yet, and it will be a couple of weeks before we will know who is going to fit in where."

"The fact that we have one coach less than last season does not help the situation." The staff has been trimmed from five to four.

Helping to spark the Trojan attack will be 13 returning lettermen.

Seniors this season are Orlando Adams, 6-0, 180-pound guard; Silver Franklin, 5-10, 175 back; Darrell Jones 6-0, 180 back; Chris Ragsdale 5-9, 270, tackle; Willie Shearry 5-11, 150, end.

Jeff Stanley 6-0, 200, back; James Turner 6-0, 180, back; Ivan Simms 5-11, 195, tackle; and Carl Campbell 6-0, 195, end.

Junior who are returning lettermen are Kevin Ditch, 6-0, 185 center; Mark Sprankle, 5-10, 180 back; Emmett Timmons 5-10, 175 back; and Joe Young, 5-7, 165-pound back.

Ron Davis, coaching backfield, and John Logan, coaching line, are new to MHS football this season. Emmett Timmons, coaching back and Head Coach Vonder Haar have returned from last year.

The Trojans will open at home at 4 p.m. Friday, Sept. 14, against the St. Louis Central Red Wings. Last season, the Trojans edged by the Red Wings 14-12 on the St. Louis O'Fallon field.

MHS gridders were 2-7 for the 1972 season.

JAKEL TO BE COUGAR

Rick Jakel, 6-0, 170-pound playmaking guard for St. Paul High of Highland for the past two seasons, has signed a letter of intent to enroll at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville this fall. Coach Jim Dudley, SIUE varsity cage coach, made the announcement. Jakel played under Jeff Carling, now a graduate assistant basketball coach at SIUE.

MOVE! MOVE! MOVE! Head MHS Football Coach Al Vonder Haar shouts at practice Tuesday as he puts Trojan gridders through their practice drills. The Trojans will open their 1973-74 foot ball season at home at 4 p.m. Friday, Sept. 14, against St. Louis Central. Madison defeated Central 14-12 last season.

5 earn skeet medals

Five area residents, all members of the John Marshall Gun Club, were awarded silver medals for their first-place finish in the Illinois National Skeet Shooters Association state championship meet held at Chicago this weekend.

Keith Mathenia, 2617 E. 28th St., and Gary Marco of Collinsville teamed together to capture first place in the Class B shooters competition. Mathenia had earlier been awarded a silver medal and prize money for finishing fourth statewide in the Class AA 12 gauge shooting match, and then joined a five-man team consisting of himself, Marco, Clyde Bailey, Granite City, and Mike Mathews and Mike Pasalich of Collinsville to earn first place in Class C.

The five had competed against more than 200 others from all over the state in the three-day meet that ended this week.

Reverend Robert E. Lee again cycle champion

Defending track champion Robert E. Lee of Fort Worth, Tex., who had missed the first few weeks of motorcycle competition due to injuries received earlier in the year, made a clean sweep of every event he entered Tuesday night.

His success in Tuesday's American Motorcycle Association sanctioned races clinched the 1973 championship for him at Tri-City Speedway.

At the start of the evening's program, Lee had been tied with Charles Chapple, Flint, Mich., for the point lead. Mike Gerald, Baton Rouge, La., was tied in the standings second to Lee.

The championship could have gone to any of the riders who were in the top seven in the point standings, because points were awarded to the first three riders to cross the finish line in the main event only.

Each rider had to earn the right to participate in the feature event via a win in his respective heat race and by finishing in the top three in his semi-feature race.

When Chapple failed to enter the program, the battle for the crown narrowed down to Lee and Gerald after two other contenders were eliminated in the process to reach the main event.

At Steele of Alton, fourth in the standings held the lead in the first heat event for five of the six laps, with Jimmy C. Lee, Bedford, Tex., running second.

Steele, who would have advanced to the semi-finals by winning the event, fell on the last lap, coming out of the fourth corner, just before the checkered flag.

Lee passed him for the win and Steele finished dead last, eliminating him from contention for the champion's crown.

Steele, fastest qualifier of the evening with a one-lap time of 15.88 seconds, later captured the consolation event and finished second to Lee in the four-lap trophy dash.

Lee, third fastest qualifier with a time of 16.04—Del Deiss Jr. was second fastest in 15.53—began his rampage with a victory over Robert Deiss of Pekin in the third heat event.

Lee then backed it up with a win in the second semi-feature race in which Jimmy Lee finished second.

Deiss Jr. led Mike Ladd, Paducah, Ky., to the checkers in the second heat and defeated second place finisher Chris Reitz in the third semi-event, earning himself a starting spot in the feature.

Neil Keen, St. Louis, the 1971 track champion, led his heat race from start to finish to advance to the semi-finals and in the process eliminated

Charles Seale, Lantana, Fla., who had been tied for the fourth spot in the point standings with Steele. Gerald defeated Chris Reitz, Montgomery City, Mo., to win the fifth heat race and then crossed the line ahead of Keen in the eight-lap semi-feature, allowing both riders to advance to the main event and attempt to wrest the crown away from Lee.

The ten-lap feature event had the fans on their feet from start to finish.

Lee charged into the lead on the first lap, with Gerald close behind and Keen running third. Gerald powered his way past Lee on the second lap to take over the lead, and what appeared to be a sure victory and the championship. But on the seventh lap he had to drop out of contention because of mechanical problems, allowing Lee to inherit the lead and retain his title.

Lee crossed the line ahead of his brother, Jimmy Lee. Neil Keen finished third behind them in the feature.

Tuesday evening's racing program concluded the 1973 cycle competition at Tri-City Speedway, with the first three riders in the final point standings being: Robert E. Lee, Port Worth; Charles Chapple, Flint; and Mike Gerald, Baton Rouge.

Kehoe to hold soccer clinic

Bob Kehoe, head soccer coach at Granite City High School-North, will conduct a referee's clinic under sponsorship of the YMCA Soccer Association at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 5, at the Tri-Cities Area YMCA.

Jeff Chaboude of the soccer association said the clinic will be a two-part program with the second session being held at 10 a.m. Sept. 8 on the soccer field at St. Elizabeth Parochial School.

More than 700 youngsters, between the ages of 6 and 14 years, are expected to participate in the YMCA's fall soccer schedule which gets under way Sept. 15.

Kehoe served as head coach of the St. Louis Stars professional soccer team in 1969-70 and was associated with the club from 1967 through 1970.

He captained the U.S. World Cup team in 1965 and coached the U.S. World Cup soccer players in 1970 during the final elimination rounds with Canada and Mexico.

Chaboude said all former referees, coaches and managers, together with other persons interested in the YMCA soccer program, are invited to attend the clinic.

Cougar kickers set 11 game season

The Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Cougar kickers will have their job cut out for them if they hope to top last year's 11-3 record during which they battled their way to the school's first national championship, the NCAA college division crown.

Lost from that squad were seven seniors, including the Cougars' brilliant goalie, Rick Benben and a pair of defensive stalwarts, Vince Fassi and Kevin Howe, plus backfield ace, Dennis Driscoll, and halfback Tim Patnam.

The nine lettermen back include two of the most potent scorers in U.S. college soccer: Chris Caranza, senior, and John Stremlau, sophomore. Another pair of aces are the Cougars' co-captains, Tom "TNT" Twellman and Tom Galati, a "Sherman tank" of a player according to Coach Bob Guelker.

A trio of sophomores, all with plenty of varsity experience, are Steve Cacciatore, Greg Modde and Paul Gentile.

Ready to go in goal for the Cougars is the elongated and experienced Chester Kowalewski, whose fans fully expect him to fill Benben's shoes. He's a senior. A Chicago freshman, Gene Mishalow, is a clever fullback and is given a better than average chance of taking over Denny Driscoll's right fullback position. Another candidate for the berth is Junior Steve Elliott.

Returning this year, too, is sophomore Paul Gentile who sat out last season due to a knee operation. Says Guelker, "Paul hopes to regain his old form and contend for a starting berth. He has very good ball-handling technique and performs excellently at the outside left position."

Key to Cougar control of the ball at midfield is little Bobby Kesson, a junior. Kesson's ball-carrying line of the ball is the SIUE squad and he is a terrific play-maker with a capability of auto scoring.

Guelker has converted Junior Bob Renaud, formerly a forward, into a very effective and hard-working fullback. Says the coach, "Bob, who is a senior, is a real hard worker and his experience gained under fire makes him able to calm the younger players."

Backing up these Cougar veterans are six blue chip freshmen recruits. Four are from the 1972 Missouri State High School soccer championship team fielded by St. Louis University High School. They are Tim Twellman, Dan O'Sullivan, John Schaefering and Tony Giannance. Other freshmen possibilities are Bruce Wisnann, McCluer High and Mark Moran, Aquinas.

The Cougar kickers will play at least 11 regular games, but could end up with three more if negotiations Guelker is working on are completed. He's trying to line up a game with the University of California, Fullerton, and may be invited to play once again in New York state in the Harwick College tournament. In addition, Guelker is working to schedule a game with a touring Brazilian team.

The opening game for the Cougars, aside from the annual alumni game Saturday, Sept. 1, will be against the University of Akron at Akron, always a tough opponent for SIUE.

The SIUE soccer schedule is: Sat., Sept. 15—Akron, home, 1:30 p.m.; Sat., Sept. 22—at University of Akron, 1 p.m.; Sat., Sept. 29—Rockhurst College, home, 2 p.m.; Sat., Oct. 6—University of Illinois Chicago Circle, 1:30 p.m., home.

Tues., Oct. 9—at Quincy College, 8 p.m.; Fri., and Sat., Oct. 12-13—the Illinois State Universities tournament at Eastern Illinois University, Charleston. Other schools entered with Eastern and Western Illinois Universities.

Tues., Oct. 16—at University of Missouri, St. Louis, at St. Louis, 4:15 p.m.; Sat., Oct. 20—at Michigan State University, East Lansing, Mich., 1:30 p.m.; Sat., Oct. 27—Blackburn College, Homecoming, at SIUE, 1:30 p.m.; Sat., Nov. 3—St. Louis University at Busch Stadium, 2 p.m.; Sat., Nov. 10—University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee, home, 1:30 p.m.

The Cougar kickers will play at least 11 regular games, but could end up with three more if negotiations Guelker is working on are completed. He's trying to line up a game with the University of California, Fullerton, and may be invited to play once again in New York state in the Harwick College tournament. In addition, Guelker is working to schedule

Benefit midget car racing event

On Friday, Sept. 7, St. Louis Auto Racing Association midget cars will compete on the half-mile dirt oval at Tri-City Speedway along with that track's regular racing program.

A spokesman for the association said all proceeds earned by the drivers, and from the sale of its 25th anniversary yearbook at the track, will be donated to the family of Ronnie Taylor of St. Louis.

Taylor, the present midget point leader, was critically injured in an auto accident while returning home from a Kansas City midget race.

He remains unconscious and in guarded condition at the University of Missouri Medical Center at Columbia.

He had been a regular competitor at the local speedway, a few years ago, in both the sprint and midget divisions.

Labor leaders urge United Way giving

Bob McCormick, director of A.F.L.-C.I.O. Community Services, and the Tri-Cities Area United Way, has received the endorsement of the United Way campaign from the following labor leaders:

George Meany—international president, A.F.L.-C.I.O.
I. W. Abel—international president, United Steelworkers of America.

Floyd E. Smith—business representative, Machinists and Aerospace Workers District 3.
Leonard Woodcock—international president, United Auto Workers.

Frank E. Fitzsimmons—international president, Brotherhood of Teamsters.
Joseph D. Keenan—international secretary, Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

"They all urge the members of their unions to join in this campaign, by giving their Fair Share pledge," McCormick related.

"In this way, the agencies and the programs of the United Way may continue their outstanding work in the very important job of helping to meet human needs."

Dobrey drainage explained

By early October, Dobrey Slough will be drained by a new underground drainage line, it was predicted Tuesday. The program was conceived by John Guillou, chief of the Illinois Department of Transportation's Division of Water Resource Management.

Guillou has resigned and is to leave his post Sept. 15, one day after bids are opened for the Dobrey project. He has devoted two years to planning and executing the program and the design scheduled to be bid was his eighth design.

Seven other routes died because of lack of right-of-way or because of no bidders on the project.

Guillou said Tuesday he is pleased that bids will be opened before he leaves office. He explained the final plan.

An eight-inch drainage line, about 3,000 feet in length, is to be laid from the south end of Dobrey Slough south to Preston Road and then west along the north right-of-way on Preston Road to Stearns Avenue.

The pipe then will go under Preston Road and will feed into the existing Granite City storm water sewer at that point.

Water will be drawn by a 1,000 gallon-per-minute pump from a pit at the slough and will be forced into the new line.

Pressure in the line will be maintained until the water reaches the present storm sewer and it will travel by gravity through the city's sewers to the median of Walsh Avenue on the south side of Sponson Road.

The state will construct a 450 gallon-per-minute pump in the median and will lay a new underground line from there west into the Nameoki Ditch.

Water, from the city's sewer, including the 1,000 gallons-per-minute from Dobrey Slough, will be force fed at 4.500 gpm. per minute through the new line from Walsh Avenue west and into the ditch.

Guillou explained the new system will increase the efficiency of the existing city sewer, rather than add more water to it. Excluding the Dobrey Slough water, the new pump will remove 3,500 gallons-per-minute from the sewer, far more than drained out by gravity.

Fears that the Nameoki Ditch could overflow were dispelled by Guillou when he department gave Granite City Street Superintendent Lionel Portt full authority to turn off either or both pumps at his discretion.

If the pump at the slough were turned off, no water from the slough could enter the existing sewer system, he said.

Guillou said he expects a contract for the work to be let several days after the bids are opened, perhaps Tuesday, Sept. 18, or Wednesday, Sept. 19. Work could begin immediately, he added.

He said that all right-of-way agreements have been made and that all state channels appear clear for the project. "I think we have it all set this time," he concluded.

Maximum salary scale adopted

An ordinance establishing minimum and maximum salaries in 14 city clerical posts was adopted on Monday night by the City Council Monday night.

The bill sets a minimum salary of $835 per month in all instances, but establishing four different scales as maximum salaries.

The highest maximum in all

14 jobs was set at $868 per month for the secretary to the mayor. A maximum of $632 per month was set for the deputy city clerk and the head sewer billing clerk.

A maximum of $607 per month was established for the payroll clerk, accounts payable clerk, accounting machine operator, accounting clerk, sewer department cashier and secretary to the chief of police.

In the fourth classification, a maximum of $582 per month is set for the secretary in the detectives' office, secretary in the inspection, planning and the street department, secretary in the air pollution control office and the parking meter clerk.

Dobrey

levee district pumping, you will have a system to pump when the Granite City sewers are clear of water.
In his plans John Guillo, retiring chief state waterway engineer, proposed a pressure drainage line and series of pumps which would not only bring the Dobrey Slough water into the Granite City sewers but also would speed outlet from the sewers to more than offset the amount brought in by the slough line. He did not envision Dobrey Slough waiting to pump until after the Granite City sewers had emptied following a storm.

Scoville persisted that the temporary plan will not bring a great amount of relief to Dobrey residents. "It is a natural watershed. We can not dry your front lawn," he said.
State Rep. Horace Calvo (D-Granite City) added, "You will not have a dry ditch after the interim project is completed and there probably will be water there when the permanent project (Hillside Drainage) is completed. I hope this temporary project will give you as much relief as possible."

Ramsey Alexander, engineer for local flood control program of the U. S. Corps of Engineers, told the gathering that the permanent Hillside Drainage program is "a minimum of two years away."

Under questioning, Alexander disclosed that Dobrey Slough ranks third in his department's priority.
He said the Blue Water drainage program (Cahokia) and the Harding Ditch project (East St. Louis) must be completed before the corps can begin actual construction of the Dobrey Slough permanent lines, unless the U. S. Congress instructs his department otherwise.

Alexander also explained that the corps can not legally assume the responsibility for obtaining rights-of-way for the line.
"One problem here is that there never has been an entity for the rights-of-way."
"It is not the federal government's responsibility to implement the plan but if all problems are cleared by a local sponsoring entity, the corps will dig the ditch for you," Alexander said.
He explained the federal

Board of Education approved the document last night. Classes will start next Wednesday. (Press-Record Photo) government has given the corps $83,000 this fiscal year to design the permanent Hillside Drainage plan. He said aerial photographs are to be taken next month and topographical maps will be prepared by February. The design of the system then will take about one-and-a-half years, he said.

The statement brought a response from one Dobrey resident. "We've got too many planners and no action. Some of the millions spent in planning should have been spent to put something in the ground." Loud applause followed.

Alexander said Guillo has called for a permanent closed underground drainage system which the corps is studying.
"We are still trying to determine which is the most cost effective plan, an underground system or an open ditch."
He said neither plan can be implemented until a local sponsor accepts responsibility for obtaining rights-of-way.

The state agreed to sponsor only the Blue Water Ditch. Later they said they would sponsor the Dobrey Slough project. The only other body with the responsibility to sponsor is the established levee district.

"If the state would say the levee district is a viable body, the state could step down and agree to let the levee district be the local sponsor," Alexander said.
Scoville responded, "The levee district is financially overextended. When you talk about the levee district as a local sponsor, it is not possible. Of our $2.2 million tax income, $1 million is already spent to pay for bonds and anticipation warrants."

Madison County Levee Trustee Russell Robinson of Granite City contended the levee district does not have the duty to empty the Dobrey Slough.
"I don't believe anyone says you have to go on someone's private property to drain a slough," Scoville added. "We provide drainage ditches and it is your responsibility to get the water to us."
Both modified their statements moments later, Robinson saying, "We have accepted the responsibility—setting up a pump there and pumping. I don't believe we have shirked our duty. We have helped and we will keep helping."

Rites held for GC steelworker

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. at St. Alphonsus Catholic Church in Brighton for Joe Antolik, 70, of Brighton, a former employee of Granite City Steel Co. He died at 2:45 a.m. Saturday at Alton Memorial Hospital.
Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Annie Catherine Antolik; two sons and two daughters.

county times, "a split still exists between the Madison and St. Clair County trustees. This is something we should work on."

Responding to questions on the status of two-year-old condemnation suits against property owners who were stopping right-of-way for the permanent drainage program, Scoville directed the levee district's attorney to make a status report to the levee board at its October meeting.

Dobrey Slough residents also questioned the source of either oil or sewage appearing in the slough recently. Louis Whitsett, Nantook Township supervisor, who chaired the meeting, said the township health officer has taken samples of the water and the samples are being analyzed. He said efforts to determine the source will be made.

Laborers back on area jobs

An 18-day strike by highway laborers that shut down $100 million in highway work in 12 counties, including Madison, ended this week. More than 500 laborers returned to construction jobs Monday after settlement of a contract dispute with the Southern Illinois Builders Association and the Southern Illinois Contractors Association.

The new contract provides time and a half pay for overtime worked Monday through Fridays and grading work on Saturdays. Double time is to be paid for other Saturday work and for work on Sundays and holidays. The laborers will receive a 40-cent per hour wage increase retroactive to Aug. 1, bringing their new hourly rate, including health and welfare benefits, to $8.95 per hour.

Katherine E. Krause and Dennis A. Babbitt are wed

Altar bouquets of white gladioli, pom poms and greenery provided the setting for the wedding on Aug. 18 at St. John United Church of Christ of Miss Katherine Elizabeth Krause and Dennis Allen Babbitt.

Officiating at the double ring candlelight ceremony was the Rev. Paul Surbey.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh G. Krause Jr., 13125 Oriole Drive, Beltsville, Md., formerly of Granite City. She is also the granddaughter of Mrs. Hugh G. Krause Sr., 1737 Spring Ave.

Mr. Babbitt resides at 1360 E. Pathian St., Springfield, Mo. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dale A. Babbitt, 410 Wycrest, Manchester, Mo.

For her wedding, the former Miss Krause chose a full length gown of white polyester crepe with a narrow lace trim.

She wore a long lace mantilla veil and carried a colonial bouquet of white pom poms and carnations centered with red Sweetheart roses.

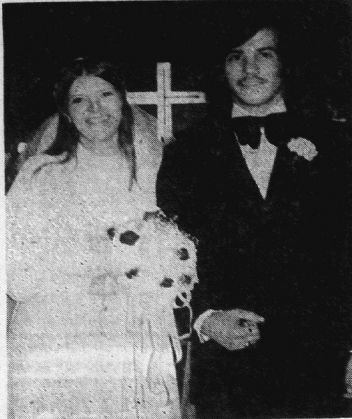

Miss Barbara Ann McClaskey, maid of honor, was attired in a floral patterned gown of pale orange on a white organza background. The dress was accented at the waistline with an orange satin ribbon.

Her bouquet was an arrangement of white carnations and pale orange pom poms.

James Crowell attended the groom as best man. Seating the guests were Jeffrey Lee Krause and Donald Babbitt, brothers of the bride and groom, and Joseph Schmitt.

Mr. and Mrs. Babbitt, the groom's parents, hosted a pre-wedding luncheon in their home and a rehearsal dinner was held at Charlie's Restaurant.

The newly married couple received guests at a reception given in the church following the service.

MR. AND MRS. DENNIS A. BABBITT. Their wedding took place at St. John United Church of Christ. The bride is the former Katherine Elizabeth Krause. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh G. Krause Jr., of Beltsville, Md., formerly of Granite City.

After a wedding trip to Colorado, the newweds will reside in Springfield, Mo. The bride, a 1970 graduate of McChesney Senior High School, is a senior at Southwest Missouri State University, where she is majoring in secondary education. She is a member of Sigma Kappa Sorority.

Mr. Babbitt was graduated in 1971 from Parkway West High School in Ballwin, Mo. He is in his junior year at Southwest Missouri State University, majoring in art. He is a member of Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity. Mrs. Krause, mother of the bride, wore a shell pink embroidered crepe gown. The formal length dress was enhanced with a rhinestone belt and matching accessories.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Babbitt, was attired in a bluish pink crepe and lace frock, floor length. Her accessories were in a complementary shade. Both mothers wore white carnation corsages.

Statement today by GC teachers

Further raises will be sought a year from now, a spokesman for Granite City Teachers' Federation Local 743 said today after members have unanimously approved a two-year pact with a salary reviewing clause. He issued the following statement:

"The G.C. Federation of Teachers today ratified the agreement negotiated by its Salary & Policy committee and the Board of Education.

"Federation leaders point out that the teachers accepted the economic improvements in the contract reluctantly but did so to maintain the solvency of the school district and to facilitate teacher-board solidarity.

"Though the salary increases do not accurately reflect the national inflationary trends, the teachers fully realize that their salaries are related to the economic conditions found within the district.

"The increases negotiated are well within the ability of the district to pay.

"At this time, the financial outlook for the G.C. School District beginning with school year 1974-75 is considerably brighter, and the Federation expects the teachers' salaries to equally reflect that better financial status."

ordinance, and awarded a judgment for payment of the sum up to that time. Under the settlement approved by the council, Bell would continue to draw the disability pension, but hereafter would forego the additional 50 per cent.

The aldermen also adopted an ordinance providing part time clerical help for City Attorney George Filcock, providing $55 per month for such assistance.

Mayor Paul Schuler announced the appointment of Edwin F. J. Reiske, secretary-treasurer of the Labor Temple Association and president of the Tri-City Trades and Labor Council, as a member of the City Plan Commission.

The cost of Living Council said yesterday it may delay gasoline price controls scheduled for Saturday.

A strike by Teamsters Local 610 against the Post-Dispatch is in its eighth day with no end yet visible. The chief issue is whether men are to continue putting bundles of papers onto trucks or whether the work can be automated. The dispute has halted both St. Louis daily newspapers.

Federal Judge John J. Sirica ruled yesterday that President Nixon must provide tapes of White House conversations so that Sirica can listen and decide whether to make them available to Watergate investigators and prosecutors.

A Presidential spokesman said the tapes will be withheld and the verdict appealed, on the basis that their release would impair effective staff work of future presidential administrations.

Testimony on the July 23 Ozark airplane crash near Lambert Airport, fatal to 38 of the 44 on board, yesterday failed to pinpoint the cause. It was brought out that there was a strong wind and extensive lightning. The pilot said he recalls something hitting the plane.

Spurred by the idea that pictures are the universal language and are faster to read than words, symbols are replacing words on many signs across the entire country in an effort to internationalize the highway communication system. For example, a leaping, antlered animal now signifies "deer crossing," an arrow pointing left with a slash turn," it indicates "no left turn," and a stick-figure crossing the road means "pedestrian crossing." In many signs, however, shapes and colors will be the primary indicators of the message such as a red, triangular yield sign and blue motorist service sign.

The idea of using symbols for words in traffic markings isn't new. In 1927 the first standards for rural signs were implemented using symbols for curves and cross roads. Traditionally, shapes have been used to alert the driver: a round sign designates a railroad crossing while a diamond marker indicates a warning situation ahead.

The symbol system is now being used in Europe where it helps clarify the numerous language barriers that exist from country to country. Closer to home, Mexico is also a highway symbol-user.

Regulations also dictate the elimination of the near right signal box. This is being done when new systems are installed; old right signals are not being removed, according to the spokesman. About five per cent of the signals are in compliance with the regulations which must be met by Jan. 1, 1977.

New pavement markings are nearly 100 per cent in compliance with the regulations with the exception of the change in color, the spokesman indicated. The left-edge line in a multilane highway must be painted yellow, while the right line bordering the side of the highway will remain white.

REBEL OR YANKEE? Either way, Robert E. Lee of Texas admires the trophy—and Patreece Renee, the trophy girl—presented to him Tuesday night by the St. Louis Motorcycle Dealers' Association, crowning him as the 1973 track cycle champion at Tri-City Speedway.

VENICE man dies in hospital

Johnnie Williams Sr., 65, of 3230 S. 2nd St., Venice, died at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday in St. Elizabeth Hospital where he had been a patient for the past two weeks.

Mr. Williams lived in Venice for the past 15 years and formerly was a member of the choir of the Leonard Baptist Church in St. Louis.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Hattie Williams; one son, Johnnie Williams Jr., Venice; one brother, Dewey Williams, St. Louis; two sisters, Mrs. Viola Nickerson and Mrs. Evelyn Elders, both of St. Louis, and one grandchild. Funeral arrangements are pending.

Teamsters Ok contract

Teamsters Union Local 610 of St. Louis ended a 24-day strike and returned to work yesterday at four independent grocery warehouses in the St. Louis area. The strike has tied up deliveries to grocery stores throughout the Illinois-Missouri area.

The workers voted 85 to 3 to accept a contract offer by the union, details of which were not disclosed. The dispute involved wages, fringe benefits and working conditions.

12,700 at final concerts

The two final concerts on Tuesday and Wednesday of the 1973 season of the Mississippi River Festival attracted a total of 12,700 patrons for the two nights.

Bette Midler was featured at Tuesday night's performance. The 4,300 persons attending, and Crosby & Nash gave the final Festival concert at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, attended by 5,500 persons.

Funeral today for drowning victim

Funeral services were held today in Collinsville for Maynard "Buck" Jones, 51, of 3108 Collinsville Road, Fairmont City, who drowned Sunday in the Cahokia Canal while attempting to aid two teenagers in difficulty on a rubber raft.

Mr. Jones' body was recovered about 1 1/2 hours after he disappeared under the water by the Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department rescue squad.

TRAFFIC SIGNS Symbols replace words

SPRINGFIELD—About 50 per cent of the state's traffic signs have been replaced with new, standard symbols, according to a spokesman from the Department of Transportation. Target date for compliance with the federal regulations specifying the conversion to the symbol system is Jan. 1, 1975.

Because of the impending cost, signs are replaced only when their service life reaches an end. An average service life of a traffic sign is five years.

Spurred by the idea that pictures are the universal language and are faster to read than words, symbols are replacing words on many signs across the entire country in an effort to internationalize the highway communication system. For example, a leaping, antlered animal now signifies "deer crossing," an arrow pointing left with a slash turn," it indicates "no left turn," and a stick-figure crossing the road means "pedestrian crossing." In many signs, however, shapes and colors will be the primary indicators of the message such as a red, triangular yield sign and blue motorist service sign.

Drivers hurt in Route 151 mishap

Two drivers were injured and one was booked on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way at a stop sign in an accident at 2:50 p.m. Wednesday on Federal Aid Route 151 at Rock Road.

Charged with right-of-way violation was Charles E. Coffman, 45, of 4837 Warnock Ave., whose eastbound auto was crossing the dual lane highway at the time of the mishap.

Driver of the second vehicle was Mrs. Loreta Deleski Striffler, 47, of Florissant, Mo. An ambulance was dispatched to the scene, but neither driver reportedly required immediate medical attention.

Services held for Willis Renfro, 66

Services were conducted at 1 p.m. Wednesday at a Collinsville funeral home for Willis M. Renfro, 66, of 517 Bernice St., Collinsville, a retired blacksmith for the Venice Union Electric Co. plant.

He died Sunday at Memorial Hospital in Belleville. His survivors include his widow, Mrs. Nora Renfro, two daughters, one son, a sister and two brothers.

Mrs. Perkins, of Venice, dies at 68

Mrs. Lucy Perkins, 68, of 65 Weaver St., Venice, died at St. Elizabeth Hospital Tuesday.

A funeral service will be conducted at 1 p.m. Friday at an East St. Louis funeral home.

Stores, banks

Most department, food and drug stores in the area will observe the holiday with the exception of a few who will stay open for public convenience.

The majority of service stations in the area will close, but a few have announced they will remain open to accommodate the people who have to travel.

A Granite City Park District spokesman said that the Wilson Park swimming pool and concession stands will be open to the public as usual.

The Granite City Council meeting scheduled Monday evening has been rescheduled and will be held Tuesday, Sept. 4 at City Hall.

Levee board would require the votes of three-fourths of the trustees, or four members, to overrule the veto.

The other St. Clair trustee, Charles Meyers, has not indicated how he views the issue. A resolution approved at Tuesday night's citizens' meeting asks that half of the meetings be held in the Granite City levee office, 1707 Madison Ave.

White star boxes speed mail pickup

Postmasters William Clinton of Madison and Charles Simmons of Venice and Granite City Officer in Charge Herbert Backs today called on postal customers to familiarize themselves with the different types of collection boxes located in the Quad-City area.

Good mail service often depends on the proper selection of a collection box for depositing letters, the postmasters said. They reported:

"The Postal Service is aware that the keys to good collection services are proper identification on boxes concerning the level of services afforded, and the collection of mail on schedule to help ensure that national service standards are met."

"All collection boxes in the Quad-City have a new, clear, readable label located near the top of the box on the service shelf behind the handle."

"These labels clearly indicate pickup times and they refer the customer to the nearest collection box with a later pickup."

"Collection runs are scheduled in the late afternoon and early evenings in business and residential areas where there are large volumes of mail deposited."

"Boxes on these arterial runs have a white star on each side of the box for easy identification by customers."

"In residential sections, letter carriers normally make collection from neighborhood collection boxes when serving the area. The quantity of mail deposited at these locations is usually small and the service provided meets the needs of most residents."

"The labels on the neighborhood boxes provide customer information on the location of the nearest arterial white star box affording later collection."

"Collection schedules for Sunday and holidays are also explained on the label," they concluded.

Distribute income taxes

A total of $32,370 is being distributed by the state to Quad-City area municipalities as their share of state income tax collected during July.

The total includes $17,260 for Granite City, $2,987 for Madison, $1,985 for Venice and $1,038 for Pontoon Beach. Taxes totaling $894 also are to be released to Glen Carbon.

Taxes distributed to Madison county incorporated areas will total $24,983 for the month and the county government is to receive $23,683 for a total of $106,566 throughout the county. Statewide, total income tax distribution will total $4,774,959 with municipalities receiving $4,035,694 and the remainder going to county governments on the basis of population in unincorporated territories.

To lead Cystic Fibrosis drive

Mrs. Leonard (Brenda) Harper will head the door-to-door "Breath of Life" march in Madison to benefit the Gateway Chapter of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation, Mrs. James Worthen, Quad-City general chairman, announced today.

The area coordinator for the fund raising drive, which formally opens Sept. 9, said that Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk has offered to send letters of appeal to Madison business firms and organizations on behalf of the campaign.

For the second consecutive year, the Madison city executive also has enlisted the help of firemen and policemen in the community to distribute collection canisters to business establishments, Mrs. Worthen said.

One of the first canisters to be delivered this week was to the business place of Mr. and Mrs. Herman O'Dell, the Grandparents of Melinda Jo Lux, a 4-year-old victim of cystic fibrosis. The youngster is the daughter of Dupo Postmaster and Mrs. Richard Lux.

The annual appeal for funds to support research programs of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation and patient care services will be conducted in the Quad-Cities from Sept. 9 through Sept. 16, Mrs. Worthen said.

FIRST COINS are placed in a Cystic Fibrosis Fund canister by Melinda Jo Lux, 4 years old, as her grandmother, Mrs. Herman O'Dell of Madison looks on. The youngster, a victim of Cystic Fibrosis, is a niece of Mrs. Leonard (Brenda) Harper, who will head the door-to-door fund raising drive in Madison.

Lunch making can be easier

Preparing sandwiches every morning for school lunches or those who "brown bag" it at work can become a time-consuming chore for busy mothers. But the job can be made easier by preparing a large quantity of sandwiches at one time and freezing them.

Wrapped in a double thickness of heavy waxed paper, sandwiches can be stored a week in the freezer without loss of quality. Moisture-vapor-resistant wrap can extend this period to two or three weeks.

Some fillings that freeze well are luncheon meats, leftover sliced or chopped roast beef, roast pork, baked ham, chicken, turkey, dried beef, well-drained tuna or salmon, sliced cheese, cheese spreads, hard-cooked egg yolks, and peanut butter. Such fillings may be used separately or combined with cream cheese, milk, dairy sour cream, applesauce, creamed butter, or lemon, orange or pineapple juice to make spreading easy.

Don't include raw vegetables, such as lettuce, celery, or tomatoes, in sandwiches to be frozen. Vegetables lose crispness, color and flavor when frozen.

The whites of hard-cooked eggs become tough when frozen, and jellies or very moist fillings, such as egg salad, soak into the bread.

Wrap the sandwiches separately, and freeze at 0 degrees F. or below.

Frozen sandwiches can go directly into the lunch pail. By noon, they'll be completely thawed.

"With food prices as they are, we can't afford to throw away any leftovers." This is a frequent comment made by homemakers.

Included among common leftovers are rice, green peas, roast beef, boiled potatoes.

For quick and easy ways to use these try the following:

—When cooked rice is covered and stored in the refrigerator, it tastes just as good reheated as when it was first prepared. Reheat in a small amount of water and serve as is. For breakfast, reheat in milk and add a few raisins. Rice gives body to soups and meatloafs, too.

—Combine green peas with other vegetables like snap beans or carrots. Any of these vegetables add variety to salads, too.

—Leftover roast beef is commonly sliced for sandwiches—whether served hot with gravy or cold with lettuce.

Or, it can be cut into small pieces and fried with sliced potatoes and onions for a roast beef hash.

—Boiled potatoes can be diced for potato salad; fried alone or scrambled with eggs and small pieces of ham. Shape leftover mashed potatoes into patties and fry in margarine until crispy.

Tickets for "Scout Good Turn Day," to be sponsored by the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank on Sept. 15, will be mailed to Quad-City cub and boy scouts tomorrow, it was announced this week by Guy Cooper, project chairman.

The movie will be shown at the Washington Theatre and the ticket will admit two persons, he said. Each scout attending is to bring a friend that is not a registered scout as the admission "fee," Cooper explained.

During the show intermission period, prizes will be given to those present and special recognition will be accorded to an outstanding scout, the project chairman reported.

SOCORRO OTERO GLORIA PULIDO LEONOR PEREZ LESLIE ALVARADO

Eight vie for 'Embajadora' title

Eight young women from the bi-state metropolitan area, seeking the title of "Embajadora," or good will ambassador, will be introduced and the winner announced at a public dance at 8:30 p.m. Friday at the Venice-Madison American Legion Hall, 704 Broadway, Venice.

The "Embajadora" will reign over festivities during "Mexico Week in St. Louis," a special week-long celebration to take place Sept. 10 through Sept. 16 under sponsorship of the Mexican-American Cultural Committee of Greater St. Louis.

The public is invited to attend the "Embajadora" dance at the Venice hall. Tickets, costing $2 per person, will be available at the door and music for dancing will be furnished by Miguel Luna and His Orchestra. Mexican food dishes will be provided by groups represented on the committee which include the Mexican Honorary Commission of Granite City and other Mexican-American organizations in Missouri and Illinois.

The "Embajadora" candidates and their sponsors are: Miss Socorro Del Carmen Otero of Collinsville, sponsored by the Mexican Honorary Commission of Granite City; Miss Gloria Pulido and Miss Leonor Angelica Perez, both of Alton and sponsored by the Mexican Society of Alton; Miss Leslie Alvarado of St. Ann, Mo., Avila's Restaurant.

Miss Bertha Luna of St. Louis, sponsored by the Benito Juarez Society of St. Louis; Miss Dolores Theresa Crouch of St. Charles, Mo., sponsored by Connie's El Sonbrero Restaurant; Miss Consuelo Ochoa of St. Louis, representing The American G.I. Forum of St. Louis; and Miss Adelta Raya of Alton, also sponsored by the Mexican Society of Alton.

Proceeds from the benefit dance will be used towards paying the living expenses of 30 professional musicians who will travel to St. Louis from Mexico City for the "Mexico Week" celebration.

The services of the musicians are being contributed by the Mexican Government and their travel expenses will be paid by Mexican Airlines, according to Mrs. Elva Ortiz of Granite City, Cultural Committee secretary.

A representative of the committee has returned from Mexico City where details concerning the trip here were completed with government officials, Mrs. Ortiz said.

The committee was organized as a non-profit organization in February. Its purpose is to encourage more cultural interchange between St. Louis and Mexico, to promote greater appreciation of their cultural heritage among Mexican-Americans in the St. Louis area and to establish better communications between several area organizations now representing Mexican-Americans.

Officers include: Manuel Esparza, Consul of Mexico in St. Louis, honorary president; Anthony B. Ramirez, president; Antonio Ledesma, vice president; Mrs. Ortiz, secretary; Alfonso Ochoa, treasurer; and subcommittee chairmen, Alberto Bonilla, Arnulfo Garza and Gilbert M. Sandate.

Expansion improving Tri-City Port's usefulness to industries

The bright potential of the Tri-City Regional Port District is continuing to be changed into reality. Liquid storage capacity is being increased from 3,300,000 to 15,900,000 gallons under a contract signed Aug. 25.

The expansion will improve the local port's ability to store fuel oil for use by industries.

Meanwhile, there has been a temporary halt in plans for a barge-loading grain elevator and terminal, but the project remains alive and is to be reviewed after completion of a soybean processing plant that is currently being built.

'Specials' being banned in Illinois — every night of the week

A 1968 federal law banned importing "Saturday night specials" into the United States. Now, Illinois has outlawed the sale of cheap, dangerous handguns manufactured domestically.

The weapons are of concern to law enforcement agencies because of the frequent use in criminal and juvenile gang activities.

Much activity in this state on assuring governmental ethics

While laws and executive orders by themselves do not guarantee total compliance, Illinois has come a considerable distance toward assuring ethical conduct involving government.

An initial order by Governor Walker bans any state employee from asking any other state employee to contribute to any candidate. It also prohibits forcing any employee to work on behalf of a candidate.

A second order requires all key employees to make full disclosure of their personal income, sources of income, debts and net worth.

A new order issued in late August calls for public disclosure of campaign gifts by firms and their top officials doing business with or regulated by the state.

While the third order's two-year retroactive clause is almost certain to be subject to a successful legal challenge, the earlier precedent-setting income disclosure plan has been found constitutional for state employees. It is highly possible that the new requirement for regulated firms also will be upheld.

Common sense approach by state on noise pollution

By JOAN MURARO
Copley News Service

SPRINGFIELD — The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) seems to be paraphrasing T. S. Eliot, as they aim at ending a number of activities not with a bang but a whisper.

In the interest of fairness, however, they have amended the plans so as not needlessly to protect cornfields from noise.

Jack Moore, manager of the division of noise pollution control in the EPA, said the amended draft will continue to hold to the division's goal of reducing noise, but has eliminated some aspects which were unnecessary, unenforceable or uneasurable.

"We're trying to protect things that need protecting," Moore said. "We don't think it's necessary to protect a cornfield, for instance. So one change has been to move the measurement point to the nearest point someone might be bothered. Previously, the measurement point was at the border line of the emitting property, but that failed to take into consideration possible existing buffer areas. For instance, there might be a cornfield, or a parking lot, or a highway, or a property line and the nearest place anyone lived, which would make a difference in the amount of sound they received. So we're proposing now to measure it at the receiving end.

In other amendments, the draft would exempt undeveloped land since it is not classified, would reclassify farmland (except for the actual residential area) from Class "B" to Class "C," which would permit higher noise levels near the fields and other buildings, and would broaden exemptions to include lawn care equipment and certain types of land use. Other changes cover "impulsive sound" — the sharp, sudden noises such as a forging hammer making and "discrete tones" — the high, piercing sounds such as some older jet planes emit.

Provision for "nondegradation" of property was removed for the time being, Moore said. This provision aimed at protecting existing quiet enclaves such as forest preserves from encroachment by noise-emitting industries which might locate all around it. The difficulty of measuring and enforcing removal of the rule, for further study.

One other major area will give delays of at least a year and in some cases up to three years for compliance in such areas as forging hammers, mine blasting and railroad car coupling noises.

Some, like forging hammer noises, were scheduled for control within 18 months, Moore said, but industry-sponsored universal studies indicated effective controls could be implemented within three years but not less.

"Some problems are harder than others," Moore said. "In mining, our tests indicate that smaller charges, better placed in the seams, may produce just as good results, with less noise. In some cases, entirely new methods of doing a job may be needed."

In mines and quarries, blasting would be limited to the period between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., and would require operators to announce specific times to the public in advance. In some areas, Moore said, blasting may occur "every hour on the hour" for a week, then may cease for a week or more, creating a loud and unpleasant surprise when it suddenly resumes. In places where the advance announcements have been tried, complaints have dwindled nearly to zero, Moore said.

Still under study are other sets of noise control regulations covering ground transportation sources and airport noise sources, Moore said, while most railroad operations apparently will come under federal EPA control.

Mrs. Helen Schmid—from comic books to consumer protection

SPRINGFIELD — Mrs. Helen Schmid of Glen Ellyn came up the hard way to her present post as the first woman member of the Illinois Commerce Commission. She started out in comic books. When her three sons were small and the family lived in New York, Mrs. Schmid avoided the housewife syndrome by working at a variety of jobs including, she says, writing the stories for comic books. (Noting that one old comic book recently sold for multi-hundreds of dollars, she also ruefully recalls that when the family moved from New York, her husband threw away a whole attic full of vintage comic books their sons had collected or she had worked on. "It really would have cost a fortune to ship them," she says, "and who would have imagined they'd ever be worth that kind of money, but still...")

Her next job pointed her toward her present post. "As soon as my last son stopped coming home for lunch," she ran for, and was elected to, the DuPage County Board of Supervisors. That was in 1965, and working with planning, zoning, public works and such gave her a solid grounding in taxes at the county level.

In 1970 she was appointed to the Illinois Department of Revenue and became the first woman in state history to serve as assistant director of that department. There, she learned about taxes at the state level, and became known chiefly as a consumer advocate, an interest she hopes to be able to continue as a member of the ICC.

"I'm quite aware that in a free enterprise system, industry must make a profit," she says, "but that doesn't mean the interests of the consumer can be ignored."

What can an average citizen do about what he feels are inequities involving mammoth industries?

"I'm a great believer in the 'wheel that squeaks' theory," she says. She adds she personally she feels maybe too many people give up too easily, unaware that more information is at their disposal than they may suppose. "For instance," she says, "anyone can go to the Department of Revenue and find the entire revenue structure in a big book, item by item, all explained clearly, and indexed. But I didn't even know it existed until I went to work there."

Though she's only been serving on the Commerce Commission a short time and is still learning, she expects to develop rapidly with the help of the other commissioners, whom she describes as "all brilliant men."

She doesn't fear that being the only woman on the commission is going to cause any problems on the job, but she is convinced that being on the commission is going to make her more interesting at home. Her husband, A. W. Schmid, a general manager for Sylvania Electronics, finds her "more interesting," she says, since she entered the political picture. Her boys aren't too involved, since they not only don't come home to lunch, they aren't often home at all. One is an ensign in the Navy, one is a senior at Illinois State University and one is a junior at Drake University.

The usual days of the comic book are far behind her, and now Mrs. Schmid says, "I'm mostly doing a lot of heavy listening."

'Dear Senator Percy ...

SPRINGFIELD — "Dear Sen. Percy, I am studying your letter. I would be very grateful if you could please send me some information about your state. ... Please, I'm not bugging you if it please, and if I am bugging you, I'm sorry."

No, Virginia, you weren't bugging U.S. Sen. Charles Percy, and he did, in fact, send the pertinent information to you. At least the members of his Springfield staff did. And it's all in a day's work.

The five-member Springfield office is accustomed to inquiries. They should be during June, 1976 letters were opened. And with the senator's recent announcement that all constituent services have been shifted to his Springfield office, this number has nowhere to go but up.

"Dear Sir: I would appreciate it very much if you would kindly send me some buttons, stickers, or whatever you can. Your help will be needed very much so we can remain above water."

Every inquiry received (if legible and not malicious) was answered, according to Staff Member Overaker, a staff member. After the letter is opened and read, contact is made with the agency that can best handle the problem. The letter is then acknowledged — usually within 48 hours — and kept track of until some action is taken. Some require faster action than others.

"An Illinoisman is dying of cancer in Germany. He wanted to die back home but no commercial airline would handle his case," said Ms. Overaker. "Through efforts from this office an Air Force plane equipped to handle his medical needs transported him to Chicago."

If a letter is received from out-of-state, it is usually acknowledged and the person asked to write his own senator, a practice which is both customary and practical.

"If this isn't done, we could have 100 senators working on the same problem," explained a member of the staff.

"Dear Sen. Percy: I wrote you a letter requesting your help to be released from my Marine Corp Reserve summer camp in July since I was being released from my six years duty this August. I received a letter ... that I had been released from my summer camp duty. I am so glad my family won't be subject to financial hardship (now)."

Most of the letters coming in now deal with problems with the armed forces, veterans' benefits, Social Security and bank loans.

It should be pointed out that we cannot be anything for a serviceman until we hear directly from him," explained Jeannie O'Camp, another staff worker. "For example, if a father contacts our office and attempts to do something for his son, we must hear from him in writing before we can act."

The office is also frequently called upon to help get servicemen home after a death in the family occurs.

Letter-writing is divided pretty much 50-50 between men and women with children taking to the ink around election time, according to the staff.

"About 95 per cent of the people actually do write their senators," estimated John Caldwell, the man in charge of the office.

They have some regular letter-writers.

"We have one customer who writes every day with a different problem," Ms. Overaker said.

"Dear Senator: I would like to know how to obtain some feathers to renew two or three pillows. ... These new pillows with kapok fill creates humps that tire you and give you the neck ache."

Not all of the letters deal with politics. Some are concerned with "how to do it" queries.

"Not long ago we had a letter from a man wanting to know how he could get a copy-right for his cookie recipe," Ms. O'Camp explained.

Much of the correspondence is simply an expression of "thank you" to the senator for services rendered or disagreements or agreements with statements he has made.

"Right now the letters are running 51 supporting Sen. Percy's stand on Watergate," Caldwell noted.

And sometimes the correspondence can be tricky. The case in point: an answer from the Bureau of Customs to charges made by an Illinois woman that she had been "unduly treated" by her personnel in Seattle.

"By reason of a visible bulge in the chest area ... was invited a personal search which revealed a set of glass eyes ... concealed in her brassiere."

'Grass' expensive

SPRINGFIELD — An ounce may get you $15.00 on the street but over 500 grams may get you $10,000 in the courtroom.

That's marijuana we're talking about. It's grown in Illinois for sale as a narcotic drug and a quick way to make a buck. But if you're caught intentionally growing it, this violation of the Cannabis Control Act carries an impressive penalty of $10,000 or one to 30 years' imprisonment.

In Illinois, marijuana is one of seven "noxious weeds" which fall under the Illinois Noxious Weed Law. Authority for noxious weed eradication is delegated to each County Board while the enforcing agency is the Department of Agriculture. Two years ago, marijuana eradication fell to the Department of Law Enforcement.

If an owner is unaware that marijuana is growing on his property, there is no penalty if he subsequently eradicates the plant. However, if he is cultivating the plant, well, that's a different story.

Conviction of manufacturing over 500 grams (or slightly more than a pound) of pot is a felony and carries the previously mentioned penalties. Manufacturing less than 500 grams may result in a fine of $10,000 or a sentence of from one to 10 years, according to a spokesman from the Illinois Bureau of Investigation.

The FBI enforces the narcotic laws in the state which include the illegal manufacturing of marijuana. However, there haven't been that many cases lately.

"Most cases involve more than 500 grams," the source said. The plant is pulled and, while still moist, is weighed by the authorities. Since an average, mature plant is three to 10 feet tall, 500 grams are hard to come by.

Illinois offers good growing conditions for marijuana in terms of soil and climate. It is grown in all parts of the state but is more prevalent in north and central Illinois. Pot plants are primarily found around fences, railroads, roadsides, ditch banks, levees, gardens and other non-crop areas.

"It doesn't offer much threat to the farmer in terms of crop damage," explained Ken Hayes, superintendent of the Department of Agriculture. "If it is found on a farm, it is usually in the fence row where it can't do too much harm."

The marijuana plant, or "wild hemp" as it is also called, is an annual, having a life span of from spring to fall or winter. Any new growth that appears will come from germinating seeds. Even if eradicated, the chances of seeds being sown and raised by birds, flowing water or attachment to machinery.

It can become a large plant with extremely thick stalks. The leaves are compound with each leaf having an odd number of separate leaflets — usually five to 11 but more common seven. Each leaflet has notched or "sawtooth" edges.

After they have "flowered," the male plant is distinguished from the female by having greenish-yellow flowers, pollinating, turning yellow, withering and dying. The female may live until the first frost.

Unsung heroes praised

THE SECRET WAR AGAINST DRUGS, by Andrew Tully; Coward, McCann & Googly, Inc.; 228 pages; $7.95.

The battle against international drug smuggling is a never-ending, uphill fight in the United States and the infiltration of dope rings. Tully relates in thrilling detail the Customs men who show and the Mafia-linked receivers who profit by it.

Andrew Tully, a veteran reporter who has graduated from the last interviews with J. Edgar Hoover before the Federal Bureau of Investigation director died, tells the dramatic, inside story of this guerrilla warfare between the customs and the smugglers, taking much of his information from the closed files of the Customs Bureau.

Drug couriers, the pay of the crime syndicates can be men or women, American or foreign-born, diplomats, students, legitimate businessmen or soldiers of fortune, Tully writes in this book which Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield describes as "one to ponder and then do something about."

He tells how the smuggled cargo, if it's heroin, probably comes originally from Turkey, Iran or the "Golden Triangle" area of Southeast Asia; if cocaine, from South America; if marijuana, from Mexico.

Smash may be hidden inside artificial limbs, religious icons, automobile tires, gas tanks, children's dolls, even teddy bears, Tully points out.

In one case, he writes, heroin was shipped from Spain inside cans of peels, a canned dish of rice, chicken and seafoods, and another time from Italy and South America in wine jugs.

Tully reveals that Customs agents are investigating an international ring of smugglers.

"The heroism of the U.S. Customs agents, writes Tully, 'is in their patient, dogged, thinking pursuit of the 12th Century Merchants of Death.'

"Most of them probably never have fired a gun in anger, because you don't fight narcotics traffickers with bullets but with intelligence and a kind of ingrained stealth."

Mississippian Indian relics unearthed here

TEST PIT where a Mississippian Indian Chief's temple was located about 1050 A.D., is explored by Rich Andrews as part of a 12-week project near Horseshoe Lake. The shades on the pit wall showed where a mound built about 950 A.D. was enlarged and more dirt added about 1000 A.D. Shades deeper in the pit showed where individual baskets of dirt from different areas of the site had been dumped during the building process. (Press-Record Photo)

A SAD MOMENT for the excavation crew came as they prepared to depart and a bulldozer donated by Granite City Steel Co., filled in the pits which they had spent 12 weeks digging. (Press-Record Photo)

Press-Record Staff Writer

"We have barely scratched the surface of this site. What we have here is much less than one per cent of what can be found here," Michael Gregg, an anthropology student from the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee, said as he and a crew of five students concluded their "dig" at a Mississippian Indian village site on the eastern edge of Horseshoe Lake last week.

Gregg, who is working toward his doctorate degree and his crew, also from the U. of W. at Milwaukee, set out 12 weeks earlier to discover how a Mississippian or Cahokia Indian civilization on the site related to the entire Mississippian Indian culture.

They were exploring a temple mound located near the frontage road west of Route 111, just south of S.A. Route 35 (The Granite City-Collinsville Road cutoff).

The site is owned by Anthony Vesce, president of Nameoki-Murdoch Distributing Co., and is just southwest of the distributing company office on land which is to become part of the Horseshoe Lake State Park.

The crew also dug pits on property just north of the distributing company office which dwellings formerly occupied.

The archeological expedition was funded by a grant from the National Science Foundation. Gregg said he hopes to return here next year for further study on the site but that a second expedition would have to be privately funded.

The small Indian community Gregg and his crew were excavating was discovered in 1937 by two archeologists who surveyed sites throughout the American Bottoms but did not do extensive excavation, Gregg said.

The researchers believe the village was occupied from about 800 A.D. until about 1300

A.D. when diseases apparently spread throughout the Indian civilizations and vastly decreased the Indian population.

The lake frontage of the village covered about 600 yards and the overall site covered about 60 acres. "Much of what could have been found here has been washed into the lake by erosion. We went out into the water and found several things indicating the site once was larger," Gregg said.

The items the group found included broken pieces of pottery and evidence of buildings. One of the most significant discoveries was an ancient garbage pit in which the Indians threw remains of their meals.

Very large clam shells and the bones of large fish were evidence of the aquatic life the lake once supported.

Bones of catfish much larger than any caught in the lake in recent years as well as the bones of small sunfish, ducks, geese and shorebirds showed clearly how civilization has decreased the wildlife which once flourished there.

In one test pit at the base of the temple mound, the group discovered pieces of pottery left by Woodland Indians who occupied the site before the Mississippian Indians came.

"The Mississippian Indians used crushed rock as a stabilizer for their pottery while the Woodland Indians used crushed shell," Gregg explained.

A pit at the top of the temple mound yielded evidence of a chief's temple which once occupied the site.

"The temple appears to have been about 30 feet by 60 feet. From others discovered in this area, we presume it was large and highly furnished with paintings on the walls and floors, woven mats and other appointments. The temples usually are used as meeting places for public events," he explained.

More than one temple may have occupied the mound as the team discovered evidence of where the mound had been enlarged and heightened about 1000 to 1050 A.D. The original mound had been constructed about 950 A.D., Gregg believes.

The digs clearly showed that the mounds had been built as dirt was carried from surrounding fields one basket at a time. Amid darker dirt from the inland area, baskets of clay or sandy dirt from the shoreline were clearly outlined.

The outline along the wall of one pit clearly showed where clay had been packed on the top of the earlier mound to provide a more stable surface.

"The preservation of artifacts here is poor. Many of the things which could be recovered intact from other parts of the country have been destroyed here," Gregg explained.

Where buildings once existed, the only remaining evidence is stains in the dirt where posts once stood, he added.

HARD AT WORK on the final day of excavating along the east shore of Horseshoe Lake, students from the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee complete one of the five test pits in the temple mound. From left are Jim Pearson, Rich Andrews, Mandy Rand, Mike Gregg and Stephanie Rauschke. (Press-Record Photo)

Twelve weeks of work for the crew came to an end last week as a bulldozer, donated by Granite City Steel Co., began the work of filling the pits.

"We have to fill them so someone doesn't fall in. It is tough to see that much work covered up in a few minutes," he added.

Debris at the site was thrown into the pits before the bulldozers filled them. A comment that someday, perhaps 1,000 years hence, archeologists would discover the debris and know that they found evidence of our civilization brought a comment from Gregg. "That is probably right."

He and the team members expressed a desire to return to the site next summer for further excavation and study, if sufficient private funds can be raised.

He said anyone interested in the work or who would like to assist in funding for another study here could contact him in care of the anthropology department at the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee.

Railroads named in three suits

Three suits against railroads have been filed in Madison County Circuit Court at Edwardsville.

Daniel Dalton has filed a $200,000 suit against the Illinois Terminal Railroad, charging that on or about July 24, while he was a switchman for the railroad, he was injured by a faulty switch at the McKinley junction in Madison.

The Norfolk & Western Railroad has been named defendant in a $75,000 suit filed by Robert Brand. Brand charges he was a clerk on June 5 and while moving a jack, he fell on it, injuring himself.

Jimmy Dial has filed suit against the Norfolk & Western Railroad, charging that he was injured while employed as a switchman for the railroad in its St. Louis yards. He is asking for a judgment of $250,000.

STEREO, SHOTGUN GONE

A stereo and two speakers, valued at $100, a Spanish muzzle-loading 28-gauge shotgun worth $40, a coin bank containing $4 and bed linen worth $5, were taken in a burglary at the home of Leonard Wade, 2947 Marshall Ave. It was reported this week. Entry was made through a basement window, police were told.

ACCIDENT INJURES 2

Pamela Kelley, 17, and Raymond T. Sims, 18, both of Edwardsville, were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital by the SIUE ambulance service during the weekend with injuries sustained in a traffic accident. Both were released.

RANSACK HOUSE

The home of Mrs. Olga Goodrich, 718 Third St., Venice, was entered and ransacked, she reported this week. She said apparently nothing had been stolen.

Know the Right way to select insulation

Proper insulation is one of the most important home improvements you can make. Insulation conserves energy used for heating or cooling, and saves you enough money to pay for its cost in just a few years.

When selecting insulation, it pays to know what to look for. The thickness of the insulating material doesn't tell you exactly how effective it will be in preventing heat loss. Instead, look for the R-value which is stated on the package or on the material itself. The higher the R-value number, the greater the ability of the insulation to resist heat loss. R-values, ranging from 1 to 25, are a standard followed by all major insulation manufacturers.

Your insulation contractor can give you specific information on the fuel-saving, money-saving advantages of insulation. For an informative free pamphlet on the subject, ask at our office.

These are the recommended R-values of insulation for most homes served by Illinois Power.

Linda Budke is married

Assorted summer flowers banked the altar of West 22nd Street Baptist Church for the wedding of Miss Linda Lorraine Budke, who became the bride of Douglas James Roy on July 27.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Budke, 2029 Cayuga St. The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Roy, reside at 2412 Edison Ave.

Miss Alicia Hendrickson, soloist, sang "A Time For Us" and "We've Only Just Begun." Miss Beth Ann Ledbetter presided at the organ.

The Rev. Rudolph Noel performed the ceremony at 7 p.m.

Miss Budke selected a gown of lace over bridal satin fashioned with a mandarin collar and long full sleeves with wide cuffs buttoned at the wrists.

The skirt was created with an overlay of lace and pearl inserts, extending around the hem of her gown. The bodice was encircled with a satin band ending in a bow and dainty lace edged the cathedral train.

Tiers of bridal illusion, bordered in lace, were seced to a floral headpiece. She carried a cascade of white baby mums and lily of the valley with a central corsage of green carnations, looped with green ribbon and trailing white satin streamers.

Mrs. Beverly Krug was maid of honor and Mrs. Elaine Kibort, Mrs. Loretta Schmidt and Mrs. Laverne Meyerhoff were bridesmaids. All are sisters of the bride. Mindy Krug, the bride's niece, served as junior bridesmaid.

The flower girl, Linda Roy, was escorted by Chris Roy. They are sister and brother of the groom. Ringbearers were Ricky Krug and Angel Noah.

Gowns in rainbow colors of green, blue, yellow and orchid were worn by the attendants. Their dresses were designed with solid colored bodices and floral skirts and they carried nosegays of tinted carnations in shades to match the gowns. The flower girl held a basket of green carnations.

Dennis Ridgeway served as best man. James Meyerhoff, brother-in-law of the bride, Tom Swires, Virgil Gibson, an uncle of the bride, and Loren Otto, the groom's uncle, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy, parents of the groom, served the rehearsal dinner in their home.

A reception was given at the Long Lake Firemen's Hall in Pontoon Beach, following the service.

The newly married Mr. and Mrs. Roy are residing at 2436 Grand Ave. Both are graduates of Granite City High School. He is employed at Granite City Steel Co.

Mrs. Budke, mother of the bride, appeared in a pink and white full length gown fashioned along princess lines, complemented with white accessories.

The groom's mother chose a pink, lavender and white floral gown, full length, made in empire style with lavender ribbon at the waist. She wore white accessories. Both mothers wore orchid corsages.

New member for Jolly 12 Club

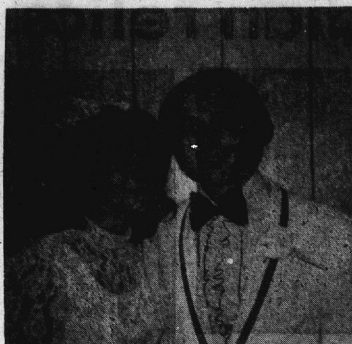

Mrs. Ardell Lange was welcomed as a member of the Jolly Twelve Pinchle Club at a noon luncheon held in the home of Mrs. Verna Michel, 1915 Pontoon Road.

Pinchle was played and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Kathryn Smithson, first; Mrs. Pauline Stephens, second; Mrs. May Lehn, third; Mrs. Jean Barnes, fourth and Mrs. Penny Ousley, consolation prize. Mrs. Emma Steiberg also took part in the games.

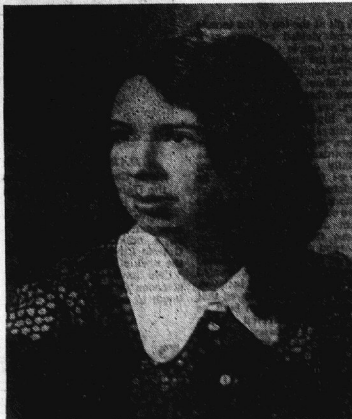

Plans are being made by the members to celebrate the 52nd anniversary of the club in the near future. Mrs. Ousley will be the next hostess.

St. Elizabeth scene of Brown-Gibbs nuptials

Miss Jeneanne Marie Gibbs, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gibbs, 2145 Lynch Ave., became the bride of Chris H. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Brown, 2900 Edgewood Ave., in an afternoon ceremony Aug. 25 at St. Elizabeth Roman Catholic Church.

Brass vases holding arrangements of white gladiolus, mums and baby breath and lighted tapers in branched candelabra provided the setting for the 2 p.m. double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Lawrence Mattingly.

Mrs. Jane Koziele, organist, accompanied Wanda Reicke, an aunt of the bride, as she sang, "Wedding Song." "We Gather Together on This Day" and The Lord's Prayer.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a pure white sate gown. The Empire bodice, enhanced with a yoke of English Nottingham lace, was etched with pearls and the high neckline and long tapered sleeves were fashioned of matching imported lace.

A band of beaded lace defined the crescent waistline and tiny lace motifs were applied on the skirt that featured a wide lace flounce extending into a long cathedral length train.

She wore a camelot headpiece to hold in place her bouffant shoulder length veil and she carried a bouquet of lavender baby breath and white daisies festooned with a lavender satin bow.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Pat Heatherly, and bridesmaids, Miss Becky Gibbs, a sister of the bride and Miss Dana Renicke, the bride's cousin, were garbed in identical dresses of chiffon over taffeta. They were made in Empire style with wing sleeves and slightly full skirts. The honor attendant chose green and the bridesmaids were attired in pink and yellow.

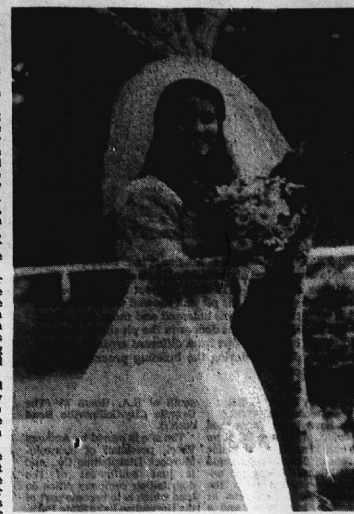

Miss Christy Gibbs, another sister of the bride, served as junior bridesmaid and Dawn Carden was the flower girl. They both wore green dotted swiss frocks.

Each of the girls wore a picture hat to match her gown and held a basket of cut flowers. Scott Keck was the ringbearer.

Attending the groom as best man was James Kietly. Groomsmen and ushers included Kevin Kietly, Dennis Brown, a brother of the groom, Michael Gibbs, the bride's brother and Marc Renicke, a cousin of the bride.

The bride's mother selected a floor length dress in red and white polyester with white accessories and wore a red rose corsage.

Mrs. Brown, mother of the groom, was attired in a formal length frock in aqua polyester complemented with a matching jacket and silver accessories.

Her corsage was of white roses. Carla Hileman and Joni Ciclo presided over the guest book at a reception held at the VFW Hall, following the service.

After a wedding trip to the Ozarks, the newly married couple will move to Big Springs, Tex., where the groom is stationed with the U. S. Air Force.

The former Miss Gibbs is a 1971 graduate of Granite City High School and also graduated from Granite City School of Beauty Culture. She was employed at Busy Bee Beauty Shop.

Her husband was graduated in 1969 from Granite City High School and worked at American Steel Foundries prior to enlisting in the Air Force. He has just completed 3½ years in Spain.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Collins, St. Cloud, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Symalla, Cottage Grove, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sowada, Little Rock, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Lawson, Arvada, Colo.; Mrs. Core Brannan, Mr. and Mrs. Treavor Kisser and Mrs. Gladys Ratliff, all of Betsy Layne, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Burns, Marion, Ohio, and relatives from Missouri.

Tropical fish big business

One of the first species of fishes received in this country since the People's Republic of China lifted its import-export ban a year ago can be found on display at Mileto's Pet Shop, 123 Nineteenth St.

David C. T. Law, sales manager of a Hong Kong exporting firm, is here visiting with Tom Walker, owner of the shop, as part of a month-long business tour of the United States.

Law said that his company, The China Tropical Fish Exporters & Co., negotiated for two years before being granted the right to be the sole distributor of fish to the United States, and that the "Gold Oscar" at Mileto's, which weighs one pound and sells for $50, was the first to be exported.

He said, "Because of the 25-year ban on exporting domestic goldfish was all that was available to the American people, but now through cross-breeding we are making the fancy exotic goldfish available to them at prices that are competitive with anything else on the market. And the demand is overwhelming."

"Many of the fish available from my company," he continued, "are not bred or found in this country, such as the 'Red Cap' Oranda, which is silver in color but the top of its head is a natural red in the shape of a thick cap."

Walker said that the uniqueness of this particular fish is its selling price. "Just north of here in Chicago, this fish will sell for anywhere from $35 to $50, while the purchasing price here in this area is only $15."

He said that he feels the age of the buyer affects their buying preference.

"The youngsters have a fondness for the guppies, the elderly people like the more exotic slow-moving fish, while the young married couple are partial to the Oscars and fishes of different colors that will brighten up their home."

Walker said that the most popular fishes in this area are the sword, platy's, guppies, neon tetras and the angels.

According to Law, "People find the tropical fish easy to care for even though the recommended water temperature for them is around 75 to 85 degrees."

He added that the most important part in the care and maintaining of all fish, domestic and imported, is to feed them regularly but to be careful not to overfeed them.

When he completes his visit here, Law will visit dealers in San Francisco and Tokyo before returning home to China.

Concerned but not really ready to join the ranks of some ecology organizations? Well, there's help available for all consumers and homeowners who want to do something in their daily routine to cut down on pollution.

Entitled "Ecology Handbook," the publication is distributed by Lt. Gov. Neil F. Hartigan's office. It was printed in June on you guessed it, recycled paper.

"There are many direct practical steps which citizens and consumers can take to curtail pollution. Surprisingly, there are few publications which detail these actions," Hartigan said in the handbook's introduction.

"If every reader will follow only a few of the 42 suggestions, we can all be more certain about the air we breathe and the water we drink."

Under the water pollution and conservation section of the handbook, these hints are given:

—Switch from high phosphate detergents to soaps or low-phosphate detergents. Avoid enzyme pre-soaks. Consumers are urged to stay below 25 units (grams) of phosphate per washload.

Lists of detergents and their corresponding units are provided from a study conducted by Northwestern University Students for Better Environment and the University of Illinois Extension Services. The data ranges from nine no-phosphate detergents down to one containing 60 units.

—Consider requesting officials to change drinking fountains which flow continually to those which are self-stopping.

—Where practical, discourage the use of motorboats and encourage the use of sailboats and canoes.

For those concerned about air pollution, these suggestions are given:

—Reduce the number of leaves and trash burned and at the same time fertilize the yard by making a compost from them.

—Encourage the planting of trees and other vegetation. They take in carbon dioxide and discharge oxygen, thus purifying the air.

—Take a tote bag to market or your own brown bags back to the grocery store to pack your purchases. This saves trees and eliminates another paper product hitting the dump.

Noise pollution is another evil about this:

—Anything above 100 decibels is considered at a level found intolerable by a high percentage of the population. A room in a quiet city dwelling at midnight registers 32 decibels.

A loud outboard motor hits 102, a Boeing 707 or DC-8 at 1,580 feet registers 110-115, a rock and roll band at its loudest is 120 and a large riveter sets the mark at 125.

For solid wastes, try these procedures:

—Dispose of highly toxic Polaroid film litter carefully.

—Use litter bags while away from home.

Ecology handbook outlines 42 steps

Copley News Service

Springfield—"Water, water everywhere and all the boards did shrink. Water, water everywhere nor any drop to drink."

So said Samuel Taylor Coleridge in his "Rime of the Ancient Mariner" many years ago. But his oft-quoted lines are becoming more fact than fiction. Indeed, with pollution encompassing everything from air to land to sea, even drinking water is fair game for spillage in some regions.

Concerned but not really ready to join the ranks of some ecology organizations? Well, there's help available for all consumers and homeowners who want to do something in their daily routine to cut down on pollution.

17-member state education board is signed into law

Gov. Dan Walker Thursday signed the measure creating a State Board of Education.

Under the new law, the governor will appoint a 17-member board, all of whom will have to be confirmed by the Senate.

Eight members are selected from Cook county, two from each of the other four judicial districts and one at large.

The board will have jurisdiction over public and private schools from kindergarten through high school and vocational education schools.

Gov. Walker said: "The new education measure will not—and I emphasize will not—affect local control of schools. I still believe that the best schools are those under local control where the members of the board are often the parents of the kids in school. These are the kinds of boards that care."

The board will have the responsibility of appointing the chief education executive, who will replace the elected superintendent of public instruction.

The bill, which was sponsored by State Rep. Gene L. Hoffman (R-Elimhurst) goes into effect Oct. 1. Then, from Oct. 1 through the end of next year, the board will act as advisors to the office of superintendent of public instruction. At the end of Supt. Bakalis' term, the board will assume its full powers.

Gov. Walker said:

"Our attention too long has been fixed on dollars—as if dollars solve all problems. It's time we looked for quality—how much our kids are learning. We want top people who will understand the need to teach kids, not just to pass tests."

"The new bill assures people in all parts of the state of representation in the determination of educational policies. The new law will take politics out of education.

"The measure separates the state's services to school children from partisan politics and the pressures of special interests."

"There has been widespread support for the measure in its present form. Support came from civic groups such as the League of Women Voters, the state Chamber of Commerce, the Illinois Agriculture Association and the Independent Voters of Illinois."

The governor also pointed out that a stateboard of education has been mandated by the 1970 Constitution. Gov. Walker promised:

"I will give very careful consideration to my appointments to this board. I want a board that will point the way for future governors and for future boards. If we work at it, and I will, we can make the Illinois school system a model for the nation. I look forward to this exciting adventure in education."

Thomas Henry Culp, 21, of 1537 Second St., Madison, was charged with attempted burglary, contributing to the delinquency of a minor and escape after he was arrested by Madison police in Madison at 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

A 15-year-old Madison boy also was arrested and was taken to the Madison County Juvenile Detention Home.

A man and a boy were seen behind Save-Mor Market, 1508 Third St., Madison, reportedly using a pipe to break a padlock into a rear apartment. They were arrested on the scene.

While Madison police were talking to neighbors, the man escaped from the police car. A warning shot was fired but he continued to run and escaped. He was arrested later in the 1500 block of Second Street and was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital. He was treated for a stomach upset and returned to the Madison Jail.

WORLD OF MUSIC 'Blueprint' captures new American fans

By JUDY HUGG
Copley News Service

Irishman Rory Gallagher is a young musical genius whose potential is just now being realized and fulfilled. For years he has been a leading attraction on the British music scene, but with a few changes in his band and the release of a new album "Blueprint" on Polydor, Gallagher is capturing a huge wave of new American fans.

"The main difference in this album over the last is the addition of Lou Martin on keyboards and Rod de'Ath on drums," explained Rory. "I've used keyboard players at different times, but Lou and Rod are going to be permanent members of the band."

"Another difference is the type of songs we're doing. I guess you'd say they are more accomplished and they're all originals, except for one, as opposed to the live album where I did some traditional material as well as my own."

Rory, who was born in Ballyshannon, County Donegal, at nine he bought his first guitar and while attending school he formed various bands and did some touring. His first really successful band was called Taste, and they recorded two albums before eventually breaking up.

Rory continued to work and produce records, all of which met with moderate success. He relied heavily on his blues roots and his great guitar work to cut some fine high intensity music which had become his style. Now, with the addition of Lou and Ron, Gallagher's versatile talents are coming to view as the band moves with ease from blues to rock to acoustic sounds.

"When I was a kid, Lonnie Donegan, the English skiffle player, and Elvis Presley were influencing my style," he recalled. "I also really dug on Eddie Cochran, Buddy Holly and Chuck Berry. So although my roots are basically blues, I don't want to have any element out. I like to keep my hand in acoustic because it's the basic instrument, but I also so enjoy playing electric 'cause you can get a lot of gutsy things going with it."

Speaking of things with guts and drive, "Blueprint" is packed full from the first to the last cut. It contains the boogie "Hands Off," the rockers "Daughter Of The Everglades," and "Walk On Hot Coals," plus a typical Gallagher blues cut titled "Race The Breeze."

"It's hard to pick a favorite song from the LP because each week I like something else depending on how many times we play it," he said. "If a song starts to get boring, then we just drop it for a while and add something else. But there's a change in the songs every night; that way they don't get too boring. We make the speed of it or some of the lyrics or someone in the band might hit a different refrain and take the whole thing in a different direction."

Rory, who has always been known as a splendid live performer, feels that this is one of the most important parts of his music.

"To meet people face to face and develop with them is a must," he said. "That's one reason I like working in small clubs. The audiences are smaller, but you can reach out to them and actually see the reactions of your music and play accordingly."

Being in the public eye hasn't yet reached the point of irritation for Rory. He can still walk down a street without being mobbed to death, although he admits that he wouldn't mind if it did happen now and then just for the fun of it.

"I naturally want to be successful, but I don't like the idea of having to sneak in and out of hotels. Being successful is one thing, but constantly being bugged is another. Now when things get tough and I need a rest I usually go home, which is a town called Cork in the southeast corner of Eire. There I can just ramble around, see friends and think about writing."

Writing is neither hard nor simple for Rory, and his creativity with the pen usually comes in spurts. Sometimes he won't write for months, then again at times he'll come up with 15 to 20 cuts within a couple of days. These are all weeded out by the band and soon there will be enough for another album. Let's hope it is as good as "Blueprint."

out being mobbed to death, although he admits that he wouldn't mind if it did happen now and then just for the fun of it.

"I naturally want to be successful, but I don't like the idea of having to sneak in and out of hotels. Being successful is one thing, but constantly being bugged is another. Now when things get tough and I need a rest I usually go home, which is a town called Cork in the southeast corner of Eire. There I can just ramble around, see friends and think about writing."

Writing is neither hard nor simple for Rory, and his creativity with the pen usually comes in spurts. Sometimes he won't write for months, then again at times he'll come up with 15 to 20 cuts within a couple of days. These are all weeded out by the band and soon there will be enough for another album. Let's hope it is as good as "Blueprint."

Political gifts lively state as well as federal issue

By KEN WATSON
Copley News Service
Springfield—Gov. Daniel Walker's troubles have reached the crisis stage.
His political future is in danger.
That's the view from the Statehouse Dome and there are ample indications that the governor himself shares this view.
Like President Nixon on Watergate, he is fighting back and often in similar fashion.

Some at the Capitol contend he is making many of the mistakes that Mr. Nixon has and note that while the President will not be running for office in the future, the governor has hopes of doing so on the national as well as state level.
The battle now swirling around Walker on the campaign contributions issue is just developing and is expected to last a long time. His swift counter-offensive to blunt the issue is doomed to fail.

His announcement that he has issued an unprecedented executive order for full disclosure of contributions made to any Illinois political campaign extending back to August of 1971 has been dismissed at the Statehouse as "show business."
Walker himself publicly as well as privately has conceded that he expects the order to be challenged in the courts on constitutional grounds. A final determination is months away.

Also rated as political grandstanding is his announced determination to ask the Illinois legislature to enact into law new legislation that would carry out the full disclosure proposal.
He will face as big a selling task to Democratic lawmakers as he will to Republicans.
Perhaps these diversions may buy Walker some time to work his way out of current troubles.

But like Nixon and those White House tapes, the only answer to the campaign disclosure issues rests with Walker himself.
He could resolve the issue by making public all his 1972 contributors.
But Walker has taken the position that he cannot do this because of promises to donors during the 1972 campaign and also that he will make full disclosure only if former Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie does so, too.

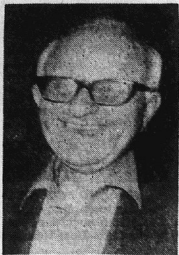

But it's Walker's career that is at stake.
Still hanging over the Walker administration and casting a long shadow across is the unresolved Angelos Affair. So far the Walker forces have blocked repeated efforts to determine whether campaign contributions or funds made by Angelos were illegal. Repressions from the Angelos affair continue.
But to many experienced in Illinois politics Walker's biggest mistake to date is to go to war with the press. For a governor to charge a newspaper, as Walker has one Chicago publication in a prepared statement, with "deliberate distortion" in critical stories about him, is in itself unprecedented.

His charge that some published information on campaign contributions came from burglarized records smacks of the idiocy of Watergate. One newspaper involved promptly pointed out the burglary charge was not only untrue but that the information came from the traditional workings of news leaks.

Dr. Blumenthal invited to symposium in USSR

Dr. Herman Blumenthal, noted research professor of gerontology and chief pathologist at St. Elizabeth Hospital since October 1972, has been invited to attend a symposium dealing with the determination of the criterion of the biological age (in human beings).
The symposium is being held in Leningrad, Russia, from October through November of 1974 under the auspices of the USSR Academy of Sciences.
Among his many noteworthy achievements, Dr. Blumenthal, who also is director of pathology at Midwest Medical Laboratory in St. Louis, was treasurer for the International Association of Gerontology Society from 1969 to 1966.
He serves on numerous committees and is chairman of the committee for continuing medical education at St. Elizabeth.
His scientific publications,

Dr. Herman Blumenthal

which are numerous, have dealt with aging, cancer, endocrinology, transplantation, diabetes and arteriosclerosis.

Church school opening set

Director of Education Mrs. Judy Werth announced this week that the St. Peter School for the Young Years will begin its third year of operation Wednesday, Sept. 5, at the St. Peter United Church of Christ, 21st Street and Cleveland Boulevard.
Mrs. Werth said that any child who is 3 years old, or who will be 3 on or before Dec. 31, is eligible for enrollment in one of the two scheduled sessions.
The first session is held on three days, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, with the second session on Tuesday and Thursday.
The sessions will begin at 9 a.m. and conclude at 11:30 a.m. each day.

She said that two teachers in addition to herself, will head the instructional programs.
Mrs. Patsy Early, lead teacher, and Gladys Zukas, who teach the children the basic concepts of education to prepare them for kindergarten.
Mrs. Werth said that a $2 tuition fee is necessary and that parents who are interested in obtaining additional information may call her at 331-3762.

Phoenix driver faces 3 charges

A resisting arrest charge was filed against a motorist, Earl Sidney Davis, 30, of Phoenix, Ariz., at 3:55 p.m. Friday after he allegedly fought with officers at the Granite City police station.
Davis initially was charged with driving while intoxicated and disobeying a traffic signal light at 30th Street and Madison Avenue following an accident with a Wilbur Waggoner Trucking Co. vehicle.
Police said Davis' vehicle heading south on Madison Avenue went through a signal light and was struck by the east-bound truck traveling on 30th Street.
During the melee at police headquarters, Davis reportedly kicked one officer in the groin and broke the glasses of another policeman, cutting him over the left eye.

Nancy Lee McManaway wed at Third Baptist

Wedding vows were exchanged at an early afternoon ceremony by Miss Nancy Lee McManaway, 2041 Beckwith Ave., Madison and Robert Rainer, who were united in marriage Aug. 25 at the Third Baptist Church.

Bouquets of pink gladiolus and blue mums decorated the church and altar as the Rev. Carl R. Watkins officiated at the double ring ceremony at 2 o'clock.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester McManaway, 1681 Second St., Madison. The groom is the son of Mrs. Caroline Rainer, 948 Alton Ave., Madison, and the late Robert Rainer.

Jack Jenkins played several selections and accompanied the soloist, James Kessinger, who sang "There Is Love," Theme from "Love Story" and "One Hand, One Heart."

The bride selected a white polyester knit gown accented at the round neckline and on the long fitted sleeves with a tiny Venice lace trim. Lace motifs were applied on the bodice and scattered at random on the full length skirt.

A band of Venice lace secured her tiered fingertip veil of bridal illusion and she carried a bouquet of snowdrift mums, white roses and ivy.

Miss Joyce Ousley, maid of honor, chose a formal length gown of pink organza multi floral print. The patterned fabric created a striped effect. Her fitted bodice featured a high neckline and short puffed sleeves and a wide ruffled flounce encircled the hemline. She held a bouquet of assorted summer blossoms.

Attending the groom as best man was John Heukla.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT RAINER. They exchanged wedding vows at the Third Baptist Church. The bride is the former Miss Nancy Lee McManaway, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester McManaway, 1681 Second St., Madison.

A reception for relatives and close friends followed the service at the future home of the bridal couple.

The rehearsal dinner was held at Charlie's Restaurant on the evening preceding the ceremony.

Both young people graduated from Madison High School. The former Miss McManaway also graduated from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and presently is teaching a fourth grade class at Frohardt School.

Her husband is employed at McDonnell Douglas Corp., St. Louis County.

Patricia Stout becomes Mrs. Charles Dittrich

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Patricia Anne Stout, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Harrell, 4821 Warnock Ave., and Charles Joseph Dittrich III, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Joseph Dittrich II, 1803 Bremen Ave., Aug. 24 at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

The Rev. John Savore performed the double ring ceremony at 6 o'clock in the evening before an altar decorated with bouquets of summer flowers and greenery.

Musical selections played by the church organist included "Mother Beloved," "Panis Angelicus" and "Adoremus te Christi."

For her wedding the bride selected a white tulle-trim gown designed with a high collar and sheer yoke ornately appliqued with chantilly lace and etched with tiny seed pearls.

Her long bishop sleeves, created of Chantilly lace, terminated at the wrists with points. The natural waistline coming to a point complemented the full bouffant skirt fashioned of ruffled tiers in the front and caught up in the back to create an apron effect. The very full skirt extended into a chapel length train.

She wore a full length mantilla veil of delicate lace designed to give a Spanish look and she held a cascade of long stem white roses and baby breath.

Miss Joann Stout and Miss Sharon Elaine Stout, both sisters of the bride, and Miss Debra, and Miss Debra, the groom's sister, served as maid of honor and bridesmaids.

Their frocks were fashioned with white lace sleeveless bodices over aqua tulle organza and organza skirts of tiers of small ruffles.

The honor attendant and flower girl, Lisa Deann Harrell, another sister of the bride, appeared in aqua frocks and the bridesmaids wore identically designed dresses in pale pink. Each of the girls wore a white

Mrs. Harrell, mother of the bride, was attired in a pink formal length gown and the groom's mother, Mrs. Dittrich, selected a long blue dress. They both wore white orchid corsages.

Home from two years in Malaysia

By KEN THOMPSON
Press-Record Staff Writer
Mr. and Mrs. Allen Holt, one of the first families to serve overseas as volunteers of the Peace Corps, have returned to Granite City with hopes of injecting their experiences into this area's educational system.

The couple along with their two sons, Gregory and Brett, are now living with Mrs. Holt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Phelps, 408 W. Warnock Ave., while they readjust to the American way of life after spending two years in the country of Malaysia.

He served as a professor of chemistry at the University of Agriculture and she as a part-time English teacher.

"Through our experiences there we were able to learn about the basic processes of understanding, teaching and learning," Allen said, "because in one culture these often are obscure."

"Here in the U. S. for example, one assumes that people grow up with certain basic concepts. In Malaysia, because of their different cultures, we had to teach them those concepts."

He said that Europe and America have long been accepted as the standard models for research education all over the world and that was part of his duties to help the university in Malaysia set up a college level program in agriculture and basic sciences.

"The students there were a very heterogeneous group because some never had any chemistry before and others have had its equivalent in junior college courses," Holt said.

Because Malaysia is producing more and more vegetable oils that are very important on the world market, Holt began looking at lipid, or oils, in micro-organisms and plants.

He said that the problem with oil palm vegetable oil is that it is highly hydrogenated and the unsaturated fats are now preferred because there is some evidence that it helps control heart disease.

Holt had hoped that his research could have been applied to Malaysia's efforts to increase its oil palm production, which has long been an agricultural problem in that country, but his work is yet to be completed.

Mrs. Holt, who served as a part-time volunteer teacher, at a local girls' school, said that the biggest adjustment they had to make upon their arrival was the different language dialects. Approximately 50 per cent of the people were Malaysian, while the other 50 per cent consisted of Chinese and Indians.

"Part of the Peace Corp training program is to teach language to its workers before they are sworn in as active volunteers."

She said that it was very essential to know the Malaysian language because in the school where she taught none of the girls spoke English.

Holt said that the university where he taught is one of Malaysia's largest agricultural institutes and a major training ground for the country's agricultural agents and extension workers.

Continuing, he said, "The people who can help Malaysia right now are people who can go there without the attitude that they will tell people how to teach their subjects—but people who can interact with the situation and develop new ways of teaching, "because a country like that needs to work out ways of teaching that are appropriate to the country itself."

The Hols, who first met when he was a student at the University of Illinois and she was a student at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, feel that they have something to offer the educational institutions here at home.

"I'm interested in teaching as an area of investigation rather than research itself," he said, "and my wife, having been trained in elementary education, hopes to continue with her career."

Both feel that a foreign language should be a requirement in our educational system, beginning at the grade school level, and that basic concepts should not be assumed but taught to our children as soon as they are old enough to comprehend it.

New law aids victims of violent crimes

Gov. Dan Walker has signed House Bills 269 and 270, providing for state compensation to victims of violent crimes.

The bills were introduced in the House by Rep. Leland H. Rayson (D-Tinley Park) and sponsored in the Senate by Sen. Howard W. Carroll (D-Chicago).

Gov. Walker said: "The bills provide that a person injured as a result of a violent crime, whether a victim, one who tries to assist someone being attacked, or one who comes to the aid of a policeman at his request, can collect up to $10,000 for medical and hospital expenses and loss of earnings. If the victim has died, compensation goes to survivors for funeral and burial expenses and for loss of support to dependents."

Fiscal experts estimate the new law will cost $250,000 the first year and about $1 million a year after that.

"With the signing of these bills, the word 'justice' will begin to mean something to victims of violent crimes."

"It is legislation long overdue. The overriding concern in recent years has been about proper treatment of criminals. It is time we started doing something for the victims. 'No longer will the innocent person who is stabbed, shot or beaten by a headline one day and then forgotten the next."

With this law, society will be doing what it can to help the victim."

"These victims will be reimbursed for their hospital and doctors bills and for their lost wages."

"The bills also will ease the terrible burden on wives who lose their husbands and children who lose their parents to murderers."

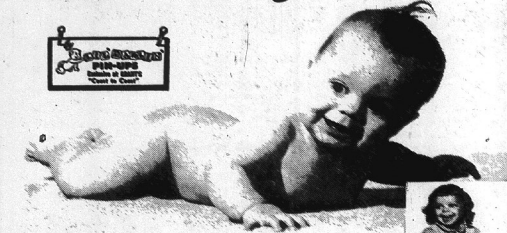

"No amount of money can make up for the death of a member of the family who died as a result of a crime. But proper compensation at least can make the loss less devastating for those who survive."

"The bills also provide compensation for hardships suffered by good Samaritans."

Bicycle thefts continue in GC

The wave of bicycle thefts continues in Granite City as seven machines reported stolen during the weekend.

Two bicycles chained together in a garage were taken from the home of Mrs. Ethel Zimmer, 3338 Westchester Drive. One was a 10-speed brown machine, the second had three gears and was green, she said.

Melvin Copeland, 2205 Edna St., said a brown machine, valued at $20, and a 10-speed yellow bicycle, worth $60, were taken from the carport at his home.

Mrs. Norma Adamson, 2709 Ralph St., reported a 10-speed, 26-inch boys' bicycle, which had been chained to a back porch, was stolen. The machine was worth $77.

A youth about 16 or 17 years old with shoulder length blonde hair rode off on a 10-speed white bicycle from outside Curt's Grill, 1823 Madison Ave., the owner Bob Fuller, 2336 State St., reported at 1:35 p.m. Saturday.

Other bike thefts were reported by Linda Graklanoff, 42 Villa Drive, and Norma Hunt, 2720 National Ave. Both bicycles were white 10-speed models.

Special license plates offered to handicapped

A new license plate for physically handicapped persons has been approved for 1974 registrations, Michael J. Howlett, secretary of state, noted this week.

The special plate, called the "wheelchair" plate, uses the handicapped symbol of a person in a wheelchair.

"These plates will easily identify cars being driven by physically handicapped persons," Howlett said. "It is estimated as many as 20,000 persons are eligible to apply."

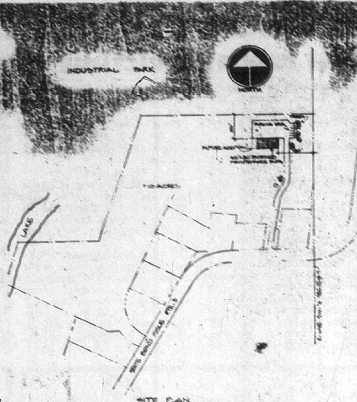

Handicapped plates, approved by the General Assembly, are optional and carry the same registration fees as regular plates. They differ from disabled veterans' plates, which are issued free.

Handicapped drivers with valid Illinois driver licenses may apply to the secretary of state's office for an affidavit to be certified by a licensed physician.

This form is to be returned with the pre-printed renewal application, 1973 ID card and proper registration fee to the secretary of state.

Cars equipped with handicapped plates are not exempt from parking or traffic laws unless exceptions are provided by local city ordinances.

3 lose wallets to holdup men

Two black men, one flourishing a rifle, held up Maxine and Bob's Tavern, 1944 State St., at 10:15 p.m. Sunday, relieved three customers of their wallets and fled on foot, police said today.

Wanda M. Thebeau, an employee, said the two men walked into the tavern and "pulled a rifle." They stated to the barmaid and customers "Get your hands up, this is a holdup."

Wallets were taken from Harold Bailey, 3709 Kirkpatrick Homes, who lost $30, Luther Ray, 1255 Niedringhaus Ave., $38 and Robert Thebeau, $5.

One man was dressed in a red muscle shirt and checkered trousers and had a beard, police were told. The second man wore a hat with the brim folded down over his face. The robbers left by the front door and were seen running south down an alley, police said.

Power usage hits new peak

The demand for electricity over the Illinois Power Co. System reached a 2,356,905 kilowatts between 5 p.m. and 6 p.m. Monday.

This was 10.8 per cent above the 1972 peak of 2,126,680 kilowatts on Aug. 18, 1972, and the third time the 1972 record has been exceeded in 1973.

A kilowatt hour record also was set with the more than $50,000 1P electric customers over one-fourth the land area of Illinois using 45,496,221 kilowatt hours of electricity on Monday. This was 8.5 per cent above the 1972 record of 41,563,350 kilowatt hours on Aug. 18, 1972, and the fourth time this summer that usage has exceeded the 1972 top figure.

Directory lists manufacturers

A Directory of Manufacturers listing 445 manufacturing firms in Madison, St. Clair, and Monroe Counties has been released by the Illinois Metro East Industrial Development Corp.

According to Richard Dykes, executive director of the organization, this directory is the only publication available which comprehensively lists such firms in the area.

The directory includes an alphabetical listing of all plants along with the products manufactured and the number of persons employed at each facility. A listing of plants by employment category and a listing of these operations by community also is included in the directory.

Numerically, Belleville leads all regional communities with 81 industrial operations located in the city. East St. Louis is the site of 76 manufacturing operations, Alton has 41 firms. Granite City has 38, and 23 manufacturing firms are located in Highland.

The area's ten largest industries, measured by numbers of persons employed, are located in Alton, East Alton, Wood River, Granite City, and Sauget.

Copies of the directory are available at Illinois Metro East offices and at offices of the Chamber of Commerce in the region.

Turnover in GOP leaders

Copley News Service Springfield—At least 13 Republican county chairmen in the 102 counties have resigned their party positions since Gov. Daniel Walker took office in January.

Some resigned their posts with the hope that they could retain their job under the Democratic governor; others simply resigned for personal reasons. Some who resigned lost their state jobs anyway.

The new chairmen since February are: Macoupin, Ted Lay of Girard; Calhoun, Ralph Brangenberg of Kankakee; Green, Raymond Bland of Carrollton; Putnam, Darrel Altman of Macoupin; Rock Island, Stanley Banasak of East Moline; Vermilion, William Young of Danville; Alexander, L. S. Ransom of Cairo.

Randolph, Fred Gerlach of Sparks; DeKalb, Conrad Halgren of DeKalb; Peoria, James Christopher of Peoria; Perry, Tony Zekas of Tamaroa; Pope, Victor English of Golconda; and Cumberland, Kenneth Walden of Greenup.

In Cumberland County, Walden's election as chairman is being disputed by James Mayhall of Neoga, who was recently ousted by a vote of the precinct committeemen.

Mayhall still considers himself chairman, charging his dismissal was illegal. George Woodcock of Mount Carmel, Wabash County, president of the County Chairmen's Association, says he recognizes Walden as the new chairman.

Motorist hurt at Nameoki-Pontoon

Thomas R. Hollis, 21, of 3330 Wabash Ave., was injured in a two-car accident occurring last week at Nameoki and Pontoon roads. Driver of the second vehicle was Michael P. McGovern, 21, of 1735 Ferguson Ave.

Hollis was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he was treated for a 1 1/2-inch cut to the right shoulder, had several x-rays taken and was admitted for observation.

CANNABIS CHARGES
James Wesley Haywood Jr., 19, of Centerville, and Max Maurice Bailey, 20, of East St. Louis, were arrested by Venice police during the weekend and charged with possession of cannabis. Haywood also was charged with a stop sign violation. Officers said they stopped a car at Klein and Brown streets in Venice after the auto failed to stop for a stop sign. Inside they found the remains of marijuana cigarettes and outside a plastic bag of marijuana was found beside the passenger door, police said.

Arrested with paint remover

Three youths found lying on the ground in the vicinity of the gas tank area at Kirkpatrick Homes were charged with unlawful use of an intoxicating compound about 10:30 Monday Evening.

Arrested were Carl Womack, 19, of 4901 Kirkpatrick Homes, and Rich H. Glore, 18, and Herbert J. Wisdom, 17, both of St. Louis.

Police were summoned to the scene by a resident who said the youths appeared to be staggering around. When officers arrived, the trio was lying on the ground, the report stated. Nearby were three plastic bags, a sponge and a can of paint remover.

Airman completes basic training

Airman Brian E. Raymond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emile R. Raymond, 3204 Elm Ave., has been assigned to Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio, after completing Air Force basic training.

During his six weeks at the Air Training Command's Lackland AFB, Texas, he studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

The airman has been assigned to a unit of the Air Force Communications Service for further training and duty in the wire maintenance field. Airman Raymond is a 1972 graduate of Granite City High School.

Street cleaning program begins

City Street Superintendent Lionel Portell has initiated a street-sweeping program to clean up debris left by waters that flooded the area two weeks ago.

All of the city's sweeping equipment is being utilized to clean main thoroughfares, side streets and subdivision roads. The work will prevent the deposits from being washed back into the sewers and clogging the system if another heavy rainfall should occur in the near future, Portell said.

TILL TAPPED
The Gateway North Truck Stop on Chain of Rocks Road was robbed of $100 by two men at 7:40 p.m. Saturday.

Leonard Jarman, the service station attendant said the men got out of a car, asked for change to use the telephone and took the money out of the cash register while he was waiting on another customer. The theft was discovered after they left.
